Detroit Wins Third Ball Game

White's Hit In Eleventh Decides Hectic Struggle

Owen Brings in Winning Run Making Score 6 to 5 For American League Champions; Chicago Stages Rally in Ninth After Being Overtaken in Eighth

Cubs Manager Is Chased From Game

Wrigley Field, Chicago, Oct. 4.—Detroit Tigers, American League champions, forged into the lead in the world baseball series here to-day by turning back the Chicago Cubs, National League winners, 6 to 5, in a tempestuous eleven-inning game.

Jo-Jo White, Detroit centre-fielder, came through with the hit that decided one of the greatest battles in a world series in years. Rogell opened the eleventh for the Tigers with a single and was forced out at second by Owen. Clifton hit to Lindstrom who fumbled the ball and the batter was safe and Owen advanced to second. White then lined his single to centre scoring Owen.

Credit for victory went to Schoolboy Rowe who took over the mound duties for the Tigers in the eighth. Other Detroit pitchers to see action were Elden Auker and Elton Hoggatt. The Cubs used Bill Lee, Lon Warneke and Larry French.

PLENTY OF ARGUMENT
The eleven-inning battle was crisscrossed with action from start to finish. In the sixth and seventh innings both teams engaged in hot arguments with the umpires over close decisions on the bases. The squawks resulted in Del Baker, Detroit coach, and Charlie Grimm, Chicago manager, being chased from the field.

The Tigers played without the services of their slugging first baseman, Hank Greenberg, who will likely be out for the remainder of the series with a sprained wrist.

GREAT RALLY
The Cubs came through with a thrilling rally in the ninth inning to deadlock the score at 5 to 5 and send the game into extra innings.

With the count at 5 to 3 for Detroit the National League landed on Schoolboy Rowe, who had entered the game in the eighth, for three hits and the tying runs. With one away from a single, the fielder, Charles Klein, batting for Jurgis, slashed a single between third and shortstop. O'Dea went to bat for Lon Warneke, Chicago pitcher, and singled to right scoring Hack and sending Klein to third. Galan's fly to White scored Klein with the tying run.

Campaign To Stop Fast Driving Here

No Mercy Will Be Shown Speed Artists Arraigned in Court, Magistrate Jay Says in Issuing Warning

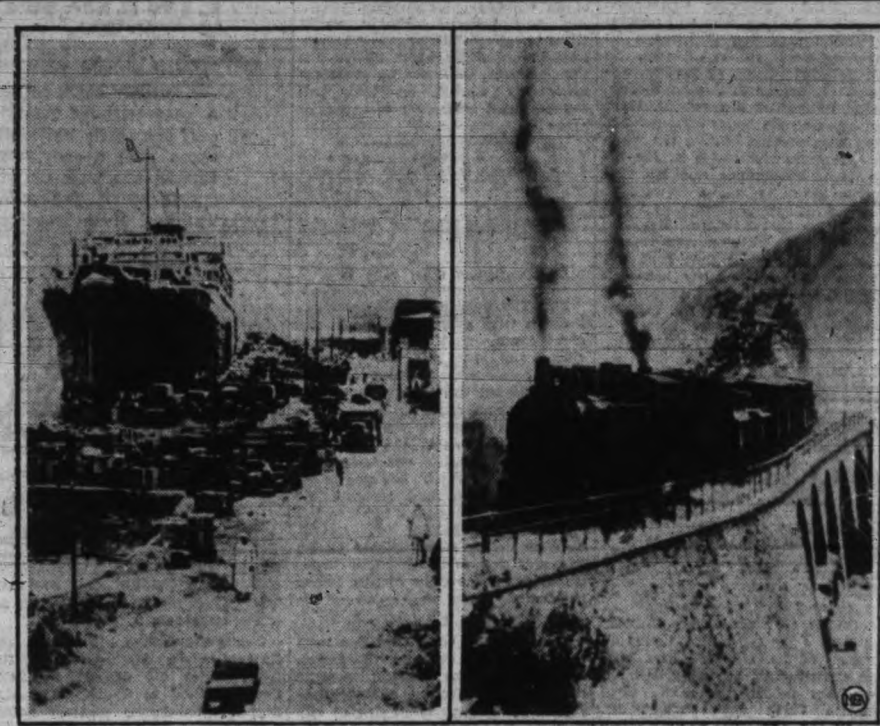

A rigid campaign to stop all fast and reckless driving in Victoria was opened in the City Police Court this morning, when Magistrate George Jay gave warning that all motorists convicted in the future on charges of driving to the common danger will be forced to pay higher fines than in the past and the fines will be payable forthwith.

"There has been such an increase in the number of common danger charges that hereafter it will be necessary to impose heavier fines," he said. It was apparent that leniency shown previously had no effect in reducing fast driving.

Coincidentally with the magistrate's warning came the announcement from Police Chief Hestey that he would immediately institute a new plain clothes patrol in outer districts to curb speeding in the residential areas.

Continuing his warning, the magi-

As battles rage in the section of Ethiopia adjoining the Eritrean border, the Italian transport system is working at full speed moving more men inland from the Red Sea coast of Eritrea. When the picture at the left was taken troops were disembarking from an Italian transport at Massawa, Eritrea, and supplies were being landed. Soon thereafter the train pictured at the right was carrying the men inland, toward the Ethiopian border.

No Rail Merger When Liberals In Power, Says King

Port-Arthur-Fort William Audience Hears Liberal Chiefman as He Starts Ontario-Quebec Tour

Canadian Press
Port Arthur, Ont., Oct. 4.—Railway amalgamation in any form, whether under government ownership or private ownership, is opposed by the Liberal Party. Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King made this declaration of policy here yesterday evening, as he warned of a subtle effort to bring about amalgamation likely to come to a head after the general election.

"We believe the best interests of the people will be served by the maintenance of competition between the two railway systems, one government owned and one privately owned, as at present," he said. All the experience of western Canada pointed to the evils of a railway monopoly and a government monopoly was bad, as well as a private monopoly.

POLICY CHANGE SEEN
Prime Minister R. B. Bennett now had a different railway policy from that he announced in 1930, when he said "Amalgamation never, competition always."

British and French Unite at Geneva

Canadian Press from Havas
Geneva, Oct. 4.—Great Britain and France stood shoulder to shoulder at Geneva to-day, prepared for definitive action, against the aggressor in the Italo-Ethiopian conflict.

Mr. Bon-Ambroise Edén, British Minister for League Affairs, arrived to attend the meeting of the League Council on Saturday. He conferred last evening in Paris with Premier Laval and from an authoritative source close to the British minister it was learned no differences exist between Great Britain and France on the questions arising from the Ethiopian conflict.

Associated Press
Paris, Oct. 4.—The French cabinet to-day accorded Premier Laval a vote of confidence, giving him a free hand in the League of Nations' consideration of sanctions against Italy.

The cabinet also approved the dispatch of a note to Great Britain stating the attitude of France in the event an isolated attack should be made on her. There was no immediate announcement as to the nature of this response.

WOULD TAKE SIX WEEKS
French sources said they believed an application of sanctions against Italy would take at least six weeks, provided the League approves of such action.

Premier Laval went to his cabinet for approval of a programme for League economic and financial sanctions against Italy.

STAYMENT ISSUED
The full cabinet met at the Elysee Palace with President Albert Lebrun presiding. After the three-hour session, the following communiqué was issued:

BREAD PRICE RISE LIKELY

Jump in Flour Due to Italo-Ethiopian War Has Effect on Bakeries

A rise in the price of bread is foreshadowed by the soaring flour market which has jumped $1.10 a barrel in the last few days.

"We will have to raise bread prices shortly," said J. R. Small, secretary of the Victoria Bakery Association, this morning.

Most of the bakers in his association had reserves of flour but he did not expect them to last for long.

A meeting of the Victoria Bakery Association is called for to-morrow.

"We will not raise the price of bread until we are forced to," independent bakers said to-day.

Flour, which rose 20 cents yesterday, remained steady to-day. There is no change in the price of other foodstuffs which have been soaring due to the Italo-Ethiopian war.

In line with the rise in price of flour even the lowest grade of wheat has gone up. Feed wheat is reported to be 10 cents a sack higher than last week.

Baldwin Makes Appeal To Italy

Associated Press
Geneva, Oct. 4.—Baron Pompeo Aloisi, chief Italian delegate to the League, is expected to reach Geneva to-morrow morning, and an Italian official said he would "probably" attend to-morrow's session of the League Council.

It is said that he will be a radical change in Italy's previous policy, for thus far the Baron always has walked out whenever the Council took up a discussion of the Ethiopian dispute.

ITALY TO ATTEND LEAGUE SESSION

Associated Press
Bourne-mouth, Eng., Oct. 4.—Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, in a public address to-night, appealed to Italy "even at this hour" to refrain from action which will make the task of the League of Nations Council more arduous.

Mr. Baldwin's address at Bourne-mouth had been awaited with great interest. The Conservative Party, in convention there, yesterday unanimously passed a resolution supporting the measures being taken by the government to increase Great Britain's defences.

ETHIOPIAN APPEAL

London, Oct. 4.—The Ethiopian legation here to-day called the attention of "the just and fair-minded people of Great Britain and of all nations of the world to the sudden and wanton invasion of Ethiopian territory by ruthless Italian troops."

A formal legation statement said these troops "have begun their 'gallant' work of massacre by bombing peaceful villages and killing innocent women and children."

Ethiopian Tactics Are Partial Retreat

Canadian Press from Havas
At Italian headquarters, Asmara, Oct. 4.—Unconfirmed reports reaching Italian general headquarters to-day announced the taking of Aduwa by Italian troops.

Associated Press
Rome, Oct. 4.—An Italian government spokesman, announcing to-night the capture of Adigrat, twenty-five miles east of Aduwa, declared the Ethiopian city of Aduwa, where the Italians were defeated in 1896, was expected to fall either to-morrow or the next day.

STUBBORN DEFENCE
The Italian official said Italian forces were meeting stiff resistance at Aduwa, but expected to beat it down.

It was stated a number of villages in the path of the Italian advance had been captured peacefully and "the natives welcomed the Italians with joy."

It was at Aduwa that the Italians were decisively defeated by the Ethiopians in 1896.

NEW GOLD RUSH ON BROADWAY

Depression Now Very Much a Thing of the Past As Boom Engulfs All

New York, Oct. 4.—There are a lot of indications on Broadway that the depression is past.

Sally Rand has been seen buying clothes, John D. Rockefeller Jr. owns a new pair of suspenders, with monogrammed gold clasps. The Stock Exchange cat has six kittens, a larger dividend than had been anticipated. Joe Zelli is going back to Paris, from which he fled when "Ze franc zoomed" into the stratosphere. "Blind" beggars are looking disconsolately at pennies dropped into their cups.

Broadway is having a gold rush. No one knows where the money is coming from, but here it is. Not since 1929 have headlines looked so dazedly content, and theatre managers are incredulous when treasurers report box office grosses. The French Casino actually has to lock its doors against clamoring would-be customers, and in the smaller night clubs admittance is by reservation only. For the first time in many seasons there is actually a shortage of theatre. The "hey-hey-hey" has come back into its "hey-hey."

Note to League From Ethiopia

Country Forced to Defend Itself; Italian Note to League

Associated Press
Geneva, Oct. 4.—The Ethiopian Government in a note to the League of Nations today charged the admission by the Italians of the responsibility for the invasion of the province of Agame, bombardment of two open towns, massacring of women and children and destroying a hospital bearing the visible insignia of the Red Cross.

The telegram, contending Italy had rejected all peace proposals and was beginning to carry out her openly proclaimed threat to conquer unarmament Ethiopia, said the Ethiopian army was obliged to defend itself. The government of Emperor Haile Selassie, it added, reiterated its firm resolve to co-operate fully with the League Council.

The League also published a note from the Italian Government, dated October 3, denying an Ethiopian allegation that Italian detachments had crossed the Ethiopian frontier that day south of Mount Mussa Ali.

The Ethiopian telegram, also dated yesterday, said in part:

"In reply to reiterated Ethiopian demands for observations and a pacific settlement since December, 1934, Italy, who had begun to dispatch troops and armaments in August, 1934, has only intensified her warlike preparations throughout the entire procedure before the Council."

CO-OPERATES WITH LEAGUE
"Despite the definiteness and brutality of the Italian aggression, which obliges the Ethiopian army to defend its territory against the invader, the imperial government hereby reiterates its firm resolve to co-operate fully with the Council within the framework of the covenant of the League of Nations."

"Signed, Heruy, Minister of Foreign Affairs."

TRADE VOLUME
RISE GROWS
Reorders Indicate Retailers
Had Underestimated Consumer Demand

New York, Oct. 4.—Aided by cool weather and enlarged returns from harvest, the rise in retail volume in the southwest amounted to 40 to 55 percent for the week and 35 to 45 percent on the year's comparative. Dun and Bradstreet, Inc., report to-day. In the south, the total was pushed upward by 15 to 25 percent, with additions to selling staffs necessary. There has been no check to the rising trend in the northwest, where many merchants reported sales largest for the period in seven years and ahead of 1934 by 25 to 40 percent. Although increases were wider in furniture and fur, consumer buying on the Pacific Coast averaged 10 to 20 percent larger than last year.

With initial purchases of fall merchandise moving out at a more accelerated rate than expected, buyers were forced to make hurried trips to wholesale markets this week, and at some centres the total number of visitors was the largest since January.

While the covering of immediate needs predominated, there was a notable broadening of future commitments as the price structure strengthened to more lines. The low quotations of August no longer were obtainable in many of the women's wear divisions, and delays in deliveries already have caused retailers to lose sales. The general lightness of stocks was revealed by the extended period of interest to nearly all parts of the market.

Reorders rose steadily above the level of recent weeks, proving that retailers—underestimated consumers' needs, with millinery, sport coats, knitted outer garments, handbags, and dress accessories included in most of the requests. Heavy buying of carpets and rugs has placed volume 15 to 25 percent ahead of last year's, with efforts being made to cover as far ahead as possible, due to rising prices. Orders for jewelry are averaging 30 to 40 percent better than in the fall of 1934, with the chief interest displayed in watches, diamonds and rings. Demand for novelty jewelry continued strong.

The rush to obtain immediate shipment of dry goods was unchecked, as stocks have run low on many of the best-selling grades of bedspreads, towels, sheets, and cases. Gingham, tickings, and plain and fancy flannels sold freely, and substantial orders were placed on wide cloths for industrial uses. Buying of shoes gained impressively, particularly for late September and early October delivery. Reorders for chinaware were substantial, and there was a marked upswing in orders for lighting fixtures. Volume of wholesale groceries was up 10 to 15 percent for the week, and in some districts 15 to 20 percent ahead of last year.

Tokyo, Oct. 4.—The historical parallel between Italy's position in east Africa and Geneva now and that of Japan in Manchuria and Geneva in the past failed to-day to evoke any indication of sympathy from the Japanese Government or people.

Public and press alike continued to show numerous manifestations of sympathy toward Ethiopia.

LEAGUE HOPES
Although the government maintained a non-committal attitude, avoiding expressions favorable to either party, official circles indicated privately hopes for success in the League of Nations peace efforts.

Authoritative non-Japanese sources expressed the opinion that if the League powers should make overtures to Japan for at least negative support of economic sanctions against the aggressor in the African war, they would be likely to find a sympathetic response.

The cabinet discussed the east African crisis to-day. Any decisions went undisclosed.

Lapointe Criticizes Bennett's
Course While War Threat

Canadian Press
Montreal, Oct. 4.—Criticism of Premier Bennett for leaving Canada without a Parliament when war drums beat across the water was voiced here yesterday evening by Hon. Ernest Lapointe, former Minister of Justice and Liberal candidate for the Commons in Quebec East, at a meeting in favor of Dr. H. M. Deslauriers, Liberal candidate in Montreal-St. Mary.

"We are threatened by war," Mr. Lapointe stated. "We hope it will be confined to the two countries now engaged. But it is important that we have a Parliament in which members can meet to discuss the situation and measures to be taken, and above all, to stop measures that certain persons might wish to take."

"I hesitate to speak on this question because, as I said at our meeting in Quebec, I do not want our adversaries to say that Parliament is a time-consuming machine."

"But what we do reproach Mr. Bennett with is that he has not furnished Canada with Parliament at a time so critical as this. What I want to drive home to you is that if there is to be any discussion on this question and if there are decisions that might have been taken, it must be decided by Parliament, not by a dictator or by a group of ministers who may have around him, all of whom are charming fellows although there are many of us who have not a lot of confidence in them."

Associated Press
Rome, Oct. 4.—Sanctions can only increase danger of a spread of east African hostilities to a European war, without halting Italian occupation of Ethiopia, spokesmen for informed Italian circles said to-day.

Italians resented reports that Hon. Anthony Eden of Great Britain and Premier Laval of France had evolved a three-point programme for application of economic sanctions against Italy, but insisted sternly:

READY FOR BOYCOTT
Italy will answer any execution of a financial or economic boycott by League of Nations members, informed Italian said, with application of social and civic disciplines for which their nation is ready and patriotically prepared.

To a lifting of the arms embargo against Ethiopia and granting of financial assistance to Emperor Haile Selassie, Italy would respond with the "making of an indelible record of its friends and enemies," informed spokesmen said.

SEEK FRIENDS ELSEWHERE
Informed sources spoke bitterly of the idea of member states of the League of Nations preventing sale or transport of munitions and goods to Italy, and said this would thrust on Italy the necessity of seeking friends elsewhere.

Press attention turned to the question of European friendships, while informed sources said Italy would not be long in cultivating such associations among powerful powers outside the League if forced to do so.

In this connection, it was recalled the German ambassador to Italy, Ulrich von Hassell, conversed Wednesday with Premier Mussolini.

Bennett Speaks at St. John and Fredericton Meetings and Over Radio

Saint John, N.B., Oct. 4.—Prime Minister Bennett delivered three general election appeals in his native province yesterday.

Before a Saint John audience yesterday evening Social Credit Leader William Aberhart of Alberta was described as a "friend of mine, a great teacher who has not yet proved himself a great statesman."

The Liberal Party had only one settled policy, and that was to defeat the government, said Mr. Bennett.

Any Canadian who could be "so short-sighted, so disloyal to his own interests, as to believe he can be made rich by the employment of the printing press," might well vote against the government, Mr. Bennett declared in a radio address delivered from Saint John in the evening.

"No consideration on earth," he said, "will ever make me party to any act which I know will destroy the credit of our country."

NO RECONSTRUCTIONISTS
In Fredericton yesterday afternoon Mr. Bennett declared there would not be a Stevens candidate elected west of the Great Lakes. "There might be a few successful C.C.F. candidates," he said, "and for the Liberals he said 'the people will give the answer to an appeal based on policies that change overnight.'"

HECKLERS ACTIVE
"Five years have passed since I last spoke to you on political matters," Mr. Bennett began, when he was interrupted.

"And still we haven't got the bridge," observed a man in the audience.

"No, and you never heard me say you were going to get it, either," Mr. Bennett replied. "The gentleman is asking about a bridge. Evidently he doesn't know what has been going on in the world in the last five years."

TREATMENT OF UNEMPLOYED
However faulty the Canadian government's treatment of the unemployed problem, the Prime Minister declared, "it is better than that of any other country in the world, and I am proud of that."

Appeals to "passion and prejudice" were being made by new parties, the Prime Minister said. "You know what the policy of the Destruction Party is—just what the name indicates—destruction of all we have built up."

MONEY IN HANDS
"I have taken every conceivable step," Mr. Bennett told his radio audience, "that is just and right to put more money into your hands, so far as any action by government can put money in your hands. We have done more than any government in the history of Canada to cheapen credit, to reduce bank rates, to reduce mortgages, to put the assets of the state at the service of the people."

A SHARP CONTRAST

ONE OF THE SPEAKERS AT A CONSERVATIVE meeting the other night remarked about the unemployment in Canada during the King administration. The press does not report him as giving any figures, in the omission of which, of course, he was properly discreet, because comparison between the two governmental terms in this respect inevitably would suggest itself. Such a comparison would be particularly odious to our Conservative friends.

When Mr. King left office in 1930 the unemployment in Canada, according to the figures of Ottawa's Labor Department, involved some 117,000. There were no doles and no relief camps. But the 117,000 unemployed had been enough to inspire Mr. Bennett to say that this was indeed a terrible state of affairs which he would immediately rectify. In fact, he would put an end to it in a few days. It was a national problem to be dealt with by the federal government.

And there would be no doles. On this Mr. Bennett was insistent in scores of speeches. Such a demoralizing and disgraceful recourse would be avoided at all costs. In a country like Canada, he said in this city, "with great undeveloped resources, there was no excuse for hard times."

And here is the sequel. In his meeting in this city a short time ago Mr. Bennett said the unemployment roll in Canada was 500,000. Other Ottawa figures put the total at 700,000. There are at least a million on relief. There are relief camps and doles. There are, in sum, all the disabilities which Mr. Bennett said five years ago he would immediately stop. Here is a little problem in simple proportion: If in five years unemployment has risen from 117,000 to even Mr. Bennett's admission of 500,000, how many years of office would be required to end it? How many Regina incidents would be prompted by the jittery gentlemen at the capital?

During the King administration Canada was making marked progress in every direction. Industry and trade flourished in spite of the depressed conditions of Europe and other parts of the world—Great Britain struggling with her gigantic problem of the workless, Germany and Austria bankrupt, Russia out of the economic picture. Canada's trade rose to more than $2,600,000,000. Her debt was reduced by nearly $250,000,000. Nuisance taxes were abolished and other internal taxation lowered, while the customs tariff had been materially reduced. There was a surplus of $45,000,000 in the treasury when Mr. Bennett went in, and even a year after the collapse in the United States in 1929 there were only 117,000 unemployed in Canada.

We have no hesitation in saying that if Mr. King had been returned in 1930 he would have kept the unemployment record at a low mark, because he would have organized and consolidated every public and private agency for that purpose. He would have continued his policy of negotiating with other countries for markets. He would have extended his British preference, which, by the way, he had done in his last session of Parliament. He would have devoted all his ability as a practical economist—for which he has a world-wide reputation—and the fruits of his long experience as a public man to problems which his record showed he understood.

Mr. King positively would not have acted as man Friday to a powerful little minority group on St. James Street, raised a high tariff wall to enhance the profits of a corporal's guard of privileged interests. He would not have asked Parliament for a blank cheque, nor would he have committed the country to guarantees in many millions, or any guarantees at all, without first having the approval of the elected representatives of the people. In the light of the record the contrast between the two major leaders, their achievements and their policies, is indeed striking.

GEORGE LANSBURY AND CRICKET

IT MAY NOT BE KNOWN THAT RT. Hon. George Lansbury, who has just resigned as the leader of the Labor opposition in the British House of Commons, as far back as 1884, helped to convert rough ground into a cricket pitch at Brisbane for the first test match between Australia and England.

Mr. Lansbury tells the story that he was paid twenty-five cents an hour, but was fated not to see "the two best cricket teams in the world on the grass I had tended." He was obliged to move on to another job.

This disciple of the cause of Labor in Great Britain, respected by leaders and members of all political parties and the public alike, has just published his book, entitled, "Looking Backwards and Forwards," and in it he is very outspoken about cricket, cricket which, he argues, could just as well be played on Sundays as on Saturday afternoons. We quote him:

"I wish every village parson would organize Sunday games from two till six, and from half past seven till dark. I dislike seeing churches empty and young boys and girls just standing in groups in the village street."

It is obvious that this sturdy exponent of Labor's principles in Great Britain was destined for a high place in the public life of his native land, for, when a very small boy, he wrote his name in a church prayer book as "George Lansbury, M.P." He is not quite sure whether or not he added the name of the East-End constituency; it was so long ago.

Mr. Lansbury is a journalist, and is Labor member for the Bow and Bromley division of Poplar. He landed on his political feet in a London East-End constituency all right.

RHODES AND KUMALO

MANY RHODES SCHOLARS HAVE gone from Canada to Britain by reason of their achievements in the scholastic world, and this country will be interested in the production of a film which is to give to the world a picture, recording the high lights of the career of Cecil Rhodes.

What is known as the "Rhodes" film is being produced near the London which Cecil Rhodes knew so well. But there seems to have been something of a "mess" in its manufacture, for the reason that Kumalo, the Matabele chief, who has a part to play in the historical drama, displayed a singular impatience to go home because the Shepherd's Bush atmosphere scared him. When he went "on the lot" he got his first view of a movie. In spite of the fact he is a leading figure in this production, when he heard his own voice as Lobengula, telling, haughtily, some of his own friends to get out of his territory or he would throw them out, "his hands fell helplessly by his side and, for some moments, he was dumb with amazement."

An old Matabele warrior and historian who has accompanied Kumalo to Britain wants to know "how and when did you bring all those cattle and men and huts over here?" Not all the explanations that were given to him made any effect on his mind. He shook his head and, interspersed with numerous strident clicking sounds, he murmured: "White man's magic; white man's magic." The film and properties are part of the paraphernalia at Shepherd's Bush.

So Chief Kumalo, who had heard his own voice but did not believe it was his own voice, has gone back to his native Africa. This Matabele chief, inveigled into the realm of modern science at Shepherd's Bush, within the roar of the traffic of the great metropolitan city, finished his dissertation on the talkie-movie this way: "I want to go back as soon as my work is done."

Obviously, Kumalo is 100 per cent for the simple life.

NO "NATIONAL" GOVERNMENT

THE TORONTO STAR WANTS TO know whether a private monopoly should be permitted to "run" Canada, and answers its own question by saying that "private monopolies and the representatives of concentrated wealth must at all costs be kept out of the control of Canadian affairs."

The question occurred to The Star when it observed that The Woodstock Sentinel-Review, noting that Hon. H. H. Stevens, former Minister of Trade and Commerce in the Bennett government and now leader of his own party, had ironically suggested the names of several men identified with the Big Interests as appropriate ministers if a national government were formed, argued that "a Canadian government thus constituted is ridiculous chiefly by reason of the fact that the services of these financial and industrial leaders could not be had." It points out, for example, that "Sir Edward Beatty, lately honored by his King, has been called one of Canada's greatest citizens. Why," The Sentinel-Review asks, "should the association of his name with public service be a joke?"

But when The Sentinel-Review suggests that Sir Herbert Holt would fit into a national government, The Toronto Star says that "in this matter the Canadian public does not agree with our usually sound contemporary"—for Sir Edward Beatty is the head of the richest privately-owned corporation in Canada, and Sir Herbert Holt controls, with his associates, 250 companies with assets of about two billions of dollars—"only a few hundred millions of dollars less than the national debt of Canada. What friend of public ownership, asks The Star, would like to see these two men in a Canadian government? What friend of the National Railways would like to see them there? What friend of a fairer distribution of wealth would advocate such a combination?"

It has been made conspicuously manifest at Mr. Mackenzie King's meetings since he left Ottawa a short time ago that the people of Canada have regretted that they thought it was "time for a change," when they voted Mr. Bennett in 1930, and that they now want a government which will jettison the policies which have added to their economic distress. They want a government which will abolish special privilege and prevent the concentration of wealth in the hands of a few individuals.

AND THAT IS THAT

IT IS GRATIFYING TO LEARN FROM official sources in Ottawa that election officers have been instructed to aid The Canadian Press in its efforts to collect accurate returns of the Dominion elections on October 14.

"Every election officer, and particularly every deputy returning officer and poll clerk," says the instruction: "should do whatever he can to furnish The Canadian Press, newspapers and their accredited correspondents, as early in the evening as possible, accurate statements of the results at every polling station."

The instructions were issued yesterday by Jules Castonguay, chief electoral officer, and it is to be hoped they will bring relief to those thousands of working newspapermen who will be very hard at work on October 14.

The Times bespeaks a generous response to the Tag Day on behalf of the Solarium to-morrow. Bedding and clothing are urgently needed for the little patients.

HOMESTICK

I shall come back in the nighttime and wander the streets, I know,
And stand at the bank of the river where the great ships come and go.
I shall be busy by daytime, but once from my tasks I'm free
I shall come home in my dreaming, for it's here that my heart will be.
I shall come into the office and sit at my desk once more
And wait for the first edition and bark to the presser's roar.
We'll laugh at the latest folly as we've laughed in the days gone by,
And we'll chatter the world's news over and question the how and why.
Wherever you go for supper when the paper's been put to bed
I'll manage somehow to find you and listen to all that's said.
Though my body is held in bondage, the heart of me still is free.
And I shall come home in my dreaming, for it's here I shall long to be.

Loose Ends

Mr. Aberhart bites off a little too much this time—people do love the smell of blood—Vancouver finds a super man—and a new racket breaks out here.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

SHINY NOSES

THE ABERHART government of Alberta is slightly nuttier than I had calculated. It hasn't yet provided social credit but it has tackled another grave problem by forbidding the use of cosmetics by the stenographers around the Parliament Buildings in Edmonton.

One can tolerate the economic eccentricities of Mr. Aberhart, but when he starts destroying the natural or rather the unnatural beauties of the landscape, one feels that he is going too far. I mean, you have only to go over to our Parliament Buildings across the Bay and imagine what it would be like under the Aberhart cosmetic policy to realize what is going to happen in Edmonton. But the thought is too appalling.

Apparently these social creditors of Mr. Aberhart's have no sense of the aesthetic. Apparently the bright light of Social Credit blinds a man to shiny noses and faces of the dead parlor which characterizes the modern woman working in the unnatural environment of the office. This is all very well for the cabinet, which is happily blinded by the new inspiration, but how about the public? The public surely has some rights in this matter since it is the public, going about its lawful business in the offices, with government, which must endure the scenery therein.

However, there appears to be no danger of this new manifestation of Aberhartism spreading to British Columbia. Attorney-General Sloan, young and handsome, was questioned on the subject in Vancouver this week and declared, quite seriously, that he didn't know whether the girls in our Parliaments wore cosmetics or not. For a brilliant student of politics, Mr. Sloan seems to have a remarkably poor grasp of modern affairs and little appreciation of our native scenery. He comes, of course, from Vancouver. But one suspects that if the Aberhart ban went into effect here Mr. Sloan and others, who accept the present agreeable background of government as a matter of course, with social approval, would be the first to notice its disappearance.

The cold fact is that after being pampered by years of clever artificiality, this generation would be unable to endure a return to the natural dead pan glow of the female face. It won't be such, use having Mr. Aberhart's dividends of $25 a month if they are accompanied by a ghastly plague of shiny noses.

CHRISTIAN ATTITUDE

THE ATTITUDE of the Christian public of the world towards the negro in Ethiopia is rather charming, when you come to think of it. There is everywhere a deep sympathy for the uncivilized Ethiopians, who need all they can get but who, as Bertrand Russell has pointed out, are not quite worth a world war which would destroy civilization and probably bring us down to the Ethiopian level. There is sympathy for the negro, there is hatred of the Italians, there is the inevitable blind passion against Mussolini as if he were the whole trouble, as if he weren't like all other conquerors, an instrument of deep-lying economic causes. There is excitement over the concentration of battleships in the march of troops. There is wild delight in the thought that the Italians will die like flies in the desert of horrible diseases and that the Ethiopians will torture their prisoners before killing them.

All these interesting emotions are visible among the Christian peoples of the world, but I have not yet heard a single person express the slightest concern for the thousands of men, women and children whose lives are going to be smashed up and ruined. I have not seen anyone who pauses to think, amid all this delight in carnage, that even Italians are human beings, that they eat and sleep and laugh and cry as we do, and have families that they are fond of.

SIDE GLANCES

of, and don't enjoy seeing their fathers and brothers dying of tropical diseases or being tortured by savages. A few years from now, no doubt, we shall be looting the Italian money to help them get over their heating as we did the Germans. Meanwhile they are monsters in human form, worthy to be tortured in the desert. The workings of the Christian mind under the impact of war will be interesting.

SUPER MAN

IT SEEMS that our politicians on Vancouver Island really don't know the game. They are too modest and retiring. They don't go out and knock 'em down and drag 'em in, after the fashion of the hard-boiled politicians on the mainland. You take what Mr. E. O. Sherwood, Conservative candidate in Vancouver Centre, has written about himself and published as a paid advertisement in the mainland newspapers. Here is an example of politeness in the grand manner—no false modesty, no foolish bashfulness, no lingering doubt about his own perfection.

"Ernest O. Sherwood," says the advertisement, "appears before the electorate of Vancouver Centre as a representative of that fine type of Canadian pioneer whose clear-sighted judgment and honesty of purpose have done much to lay the foundations of the strong, virile nation that Canada is to-day. Respected and admired by all who come in contact with him, Mr. Sherwood backs up a naturally keen and astute mind with a wealth of practical experience in the business life of Western Canada. Neither too young, nor too old, but in the prime of life, Mr. Sherwood can be counted upon to display in affairs of state the same initiative and energy that has characterized his own business life." And so on for half a column in highly expensive advertising space.

Apparently this is the man Canada has been waiting for these many years. He should be made dictator without delay before he retires from public life, as he is almost certain to do on October 14. The only wonder is why we never realized before that we had this super man among us, quietly running a dairy in Vancouver. The tragedy is that even Conservatives don't think for a moment that Mr. Sherwood has a chance of election. You can never really trust democracy.

NEW RACKET

THEY TELL me that the many game of ping-pong is sweeping the village like an epidemic of measles, than which it is slightly more noxious; not ping-pong as originally conceived, a harmless parlor game for young ladies in billies and men with warius mustaches; not that, but ping-pong as it is played now with all the mechanical perfection of big league baseball and almost the same athletic violence.

Ping-pong has become modernized and streamlined and young men play it for exercise as an older generation played football. They tell me that an expert ping-pong player, during an evening's ping, gets as much exercise as is represented by climbing twelve telephone poles, or hoisting fifteen beers in Esquimaux, or listening to one of Dr. Telford's radio speeches. That is just the trouble with it. It is becoming expert and civilized like bridge.

Years ago bridge used to be a game, then it became a mania. Then it became a science. Finally, under a few able promoters like Mr. Culbertson, it became a racket, more profitable than kidnapping and more disagreeable. Bridge, used to unite people in friendship about a table of an evening and provide for an exchange of thoughts between hands. Now it divides people into violent warring factions. It disrupts more friendships than love. It spoils more marriages than drink. People no longer enjoy it. They worship it and fear it. Half the population, having a useless talent for cards, lords it over the other half, which hasn't, so that many of our ablest brains sink about now-a-days under the dead weight of an inferiority complex.

The same thing is happening to ping-pong, they tell me. You don't play unless you are an athlete. If you were to try to play just for the fun of it, the fellow who plays in a fierce kind of religious fervor, a kind of pagan worship, a nasty glorification of physical strength, would walk out of your house.

I have always contended that there is less good will and human kindness in the world to-day than ever before.

Back In 1930

OLD AGE PENSIONS—Mr. Bennett at Yarmouth, N.S. July 2, 1930

If the Conservative Party is successful on July 26 I will see that old age pensions are paid to every province of the Dominion from the Federal treasury. It is a national obligation. If the Dominion can pay 50 per cent, why cannot it pay 50 per cent? (In 1935 the provinces still pay 25 per cent of old age pensions and no pensions are paid in Quebec or New Brunswick.)

NATIONALISM

I have been getting a little concerned about Mr. King's internationalism. I want to see some Canadianism, less thought about other people and more thought about our own people. It is a one-time job, looking after the affairs of Canada.

C.C.F. candidate means a vote for Oriental enfranchisement; there is no doubt about that being so.

I quote from Hansard, June 22, 1934.

"Mr. Woodworth—If an Oriental in Alberta or Saskatchewan may vote, I think the Oriental ought to be able to vote in British Columbia. The issues at stake are very considerable, especially when we think of international affairs, and I do not think that the attitude of one particular province towards a certain matter . . .

"Mr. Mackenzie (Vancouver Centre)—Is the Hon. Member in favor of enfranchising Orientals in British Columbia?

"Mr. Woodworth—I am in favor of enfranchising Orientals in British Columbia.

"Mr. Neill (Comox-Alberni)—Did you say during the last election in British Columbia?

"Mr. Woodworth—I did.

"Mr. Neill—I did not hear of it.

"Mr. Mackenzie—Is the C.C.F. in favor of it?

"Mr. Woodworth—Yes; there is no doubt about that. I will go into your riding and tell them so; there is no doubt about it."

That the provincial leader of the C.C.F. is likewise in favor of enfranchisement of the Oriental was indicated by him in an address delivered in Victoria on December 10, last, and reported in The Victoria Times the next day. I quote from a report of Rev. Robert Connell's speech as published in that paper:

"On the question of giving the vote to Orientals, he (Rev. Connell) could not see any serious objection, although it certainly was not a burning issue just yet, and would not be the first thing the party would do when it obtained power. However, it

Money As Servant But Not As Master

Dean of Canterbury Finds Root Cause of Economic Commotion and War in Outworn Monetary System; Advises Social Credit as Remedy

For two hours the Very Rev. Hewitt Johnson, Dean of Canterbury, preached the doctrine of Social Credit to a Victoria audience at the Empire Theatre yesterday evening.

The dean made no effort to describe the technical methods by which Social Credit would be made effective, but in simple language, colored by epigram and anecdote, analyzed fundamental causes of the economic commotion with scathing denunciation of the monetary system, and then outlined the practical and ethical viewpoints of the national dividend theory.

The theatre was filled to hear the dean. He was applauded vigorously as he drew a glowing word picture of the security of life which the richness of the world should furnish its people. He concluded with an appeal to his listeners to study the literature of Social Credit and then become apostles of the theory themselves.

Rev. O. L. Jull was the chairman, and Very Rev. C. S. Quantin, Dean of Columbia, voiced the vote of thanks to the speaker.

The Dean of Canterbury opened his address with a clear explanation that he was not talking politics. He felt the subject was quite above parties and creeds. Of himself, he believed his heart was Socialist, his head Liberal and he had Conservatism in his very bones. Social Credit was like an economic mechanism that in its Christian principle fed all these parts.

He spoke first of the richness with which the world was endowed, describing in vivid terms how the machine age had so vastly increased this store of wealth. Even in the days of King Edward I, a man's labor would return him one sheep in three days or a "brooch" suit in six days. If it was sufficient to support him in that era, it must be greatly superior in the present day. It was estimated the man power of the world had been multiplied 4,000 times by machine developments.

Instantaneous such things as the manufacture of electric light bulbs, bricks and rayon goods by modern mechanical methods, which did the work of thousands of men, he asked the simple question: "Is there the slightest need for any of us to be in want?"

The limits to which science could go in further increasing this productive power were hardly in sight, he explained. Scientists to-day were frustrated by the system from providing the use of many other labor-saving devices.

TRAGEDY OF YOUTH

"And what are we doing with this magnificent machine with which God has provided us?" he queried. "Just think of our thousands of young people who come into a world that apparently has no use for them. I often wonder the modern children do not go to the devil much faster. I wonder they do not shake their fist at heaven and blaspheme the God that has permitted them to be born into such a foolish world (and, no doubt, some of them do). It is to try and help such people as these that drives me on to the platform like this."

The irony of it all was that with such enormous production powers, the unemployed of England would stretch hand in hand from Liverpool to the Rocky Mountains; enough milk to give each of them a can higher than himself was poured down the drains in England each year; farmers were fined $15,000 for growing too many potatoes, and many children went to school in the morning without a meal.

Even at that England was a little wiser than France because there they put farmers in jail for growing too much.

TRAGIC BUT COMICAL

"The whole thing if it was not so desperately tragic, would be absolutely comical. I often say to myself: What a stupid world this is!" he went on. "Really, we are just like a car that can do seventy miles an hour and we won't let it travel faster than twenty."

"I often take my choir boys riding in my car which can do seventy and they love to speed. If I did not go faster than twenty I'm sure they would say to each other, 'The old car's dotty.'"

"Don't laugh," he admonished the audience as titters arose at this remark. "You're all dotty. Yes you are."

"Just let me show you. In Kent the farmers let their plums rot on the ground. In Lancashire they are burning the spindles in the mills. Back would like the products of the other. But when you ask why they do not get them the answer is 'We have no money.'"

SOMETHING WRONG WITH TICKETS

It was established, he said, that the root trouble was in money. But money was only tickets, so something had gone wrong with the tickets.

"It's just like a train operating to take a crowd of people from one place to another. But they can't get on the train because they have no tickets. Instead of simply writing out the tickets, they say: 'Oh, no, it's private company makes our tickets and they only give us so many at a time and we can't use the train till we get the tickets.' Surely if a railroad operated that way you would call it stark, staring mad."

TROUBLE OF USHERS

The prerogative of issuing money, he explained, had originally been vested in the crown and the state, but had been permitted to slip out of these hands to a small group of usurers, who made it out of nothing and then charged interest on it. "And let me advise you," he added as an aside, "if you ever try making money yourself don't do it in small quantities. If you make two shillings out of silver, you're liable to get two years in jail for it. If you make $2,000,000 with pen and paper, you'll probably get a baronetcy, and if you make $6,000,000 or $10,000,000, you can hardly miss going to the House of Lords," he said, amid laughter.

HOW BANKS MAKE MONEY

He cited an incident on Lord McMillan's industry and finance commission on a report written by Sir Reginald McKenna to the effect that banks created money out of nothing. When a person borrowed from the bank by overdraft, the bank created this money. When it was repaid the bank destroyed it. But banks could make in this fashion up to nine times as much as they had on deposit.

"And," he stressed, "those people who have this right to create money have a sovereign power over us. We have allowed the control of money to slip out of our hands into a private monopoly. And it is now an international power respecting no nations."

MONEY THE SERVANT

The first proposal of the Social Credit was that this power should be restored to the people, said the Dean, and the second was that money should be the servant of industry, not the master.

In this connection, he made a reference to other crusaders against the money power, declaring he "took of his hat" to Father Coughlin for his fight in the United States.

The third principle was that there must always be sufficient money in the consumers' pockets to buy back what, as producers, they could make. This he explained, was where the national dividend entered the picture.

With an automobile factory as an illustration, the Dean stated that such a factory produced three things: motor cars, the prices that must be paid for them, and the wages to employees and dividends to owners.

PRICE AND MONEY STREAMS

He likened the prices on one hand and the wages and dividends on the other to two streams going out from the factory. They were related in that the wages and dividends were added to make up the price. On top of these, however, were depreciation and other overhead costs included in the price stream. It was easily apparent, then, that the price stream, being bigger, than the wages or money stream, must flow faster.

"When Major Douglas first suggested this to me, my first question was: 'Then why doesn't the whole thing collapse, because it can't go on indefinitely,' he added, then going on to explain that such things as bank-ruptcies slowed up the price stream for a time, although taking an awful toll as they did it. Then the reckoning was even worse when it came.

Wars between nations would boost the money stream because bankers would need to increase production, but once again the reaction was worse. It created a bigger accumulation than ever which must be disposed of.

The only way to meet this condition to-day was to find new markets overseas. Products which people of the country needed had to be sold to other countries so that the money stream was continuously increased to catch the price stream. And all the time the money was loaned by bankers who drew interest on it.

VALUE OF TRADE

In this connection he quoted an eminent British authority to the effect that $8,300,000,000 worth of goods had gone overseas from England in the last eighty years, and that from all the benefit they had been they might just as well have been sent out in ships and scuttled off Liverpool harbor. In the meantime, too, other countries had launched on the same business and everyone was trying to grab markets to keep the money stream flowing by selling off goods which their own people needed.

Here, he said, lay the economic evil which was the root of war.

CAUSE OF WAR

"The Ethiopian cloud which hangs over us to-day has its roots in this very same thing. Mussolini thinks he is a dictator, but he's a pawn in the hands of much bigger interests than he knows of. The others, Hitler, and Communism spring from similar roots. Major Douglas foretold all these things long before you ever heard about them because he could see the basic evil."

It was apparent, said the Dean, that the remedy lay in putting new money into the money stream so that it would flow side by side with the price stream and harmony would prevail without the everlasting struggle between the two factors. Money, it was proved, could be made merely with pencil and paper, so, physically speaking, there was no reason why the two should not be balanced and industry placed in a perpetual boom, the speaker said.

The annual business of the nation, its production and consumption, was easily ascertainable, said the Dean. Presuming that production was $400,000,000 and consumption $300,000,000 and everyone was working, the two would be adjusted merely by discounting the price stream by 25 per cent.

With the machine in the picture something different was needed and this is where the national dividend came in on the other side of the picture.

ASSOCIATIVE MACHINE

"The man who has lost his craftsmanship because of the machine is obliged to greater wages, not less," he said. "We ought to be paid off a great associative machine, and it is only just that we should all share in the increment of this association."

Physically the dividend is a possibility and ethically we are justified in receiving it. Why, then, trivial little thing in Alberta is just like a cocktail before dinner to the security which we should have."

People had said that payments of this kind would demoralize the nation, but said the Dean, this was a damnable heresy. It was really a marvel that men were as magnificent as they are and given a chance such as they deserved, there was no telling to what heights they might reach.

The great civilizations of the ages, of Greece, of Florence, of Venice, of the Tudors, had been built among the heaped class sitting on a layer of slavery and oppression. When it was built upon the wonderful machine labor of to-day, it would rise to undreamed of heights.

WHY BENNETT FACES DEFEAT

Failed to Use Most Important Unemployment Weapon, Says Chambers

The Bennett government faced defeat at the polls because it had failed to deal successfully with unemployment, just as any government which failed in this respect would be defeated, declared Alan Chambers, Liberal candidate in Nanaimo riding, at a meeting in Temperance Hall, Keating, yesterday evening.

It was not surprising that the Bennett administration had failed to cope with the problem because it had failed to use the most powerful weapon that was available—the national currency and credit. Without control of this the government was ignoring the greatest public utility there was, said the candidate.

Dealing with the need for social and financial reforms the candidate pointed out that to deal with these on a proper constitutional basis the B.N.A. Act must be amended. The return of a Liberal administration, with similar thought at the head of the provinces, would be the surest way to achieve an amicable settlement of these difficulties.

A candidate appealed as "an island man in an island contest." An advocate of Vancouver Island, Ottawa was needed, not an advocate of Ottawa on Vancouver Island, he said.

Never before had there been such a need for better treatment for Vancouver Island and, if elected, he would not rest until he saw that this was given.

Mr. Chambers reviewed his own studies of matters like unemployment, the coal industry and co-operative marketing as matters which would prove of direct benefit to the island.

He advocated the establishment of a national park on the West Coast as an aid to the tourist industry, believing the Dominion Government should assist both in the development of the park and in a suitable highway leading to it.

"I stand," he said, "in the proud position as an island man in an island constituency, of not having to import spellbinders from the mainland to help me in the election. I feel the people of this constituency realize the need of an island man who will work in the island's interests."

N. W. Whitaker, M.P.P., spoke on Mr. Chambers' behalf.

BOOTLEGGERS GOT MONEY OF INDIANS

After working in the hopfields of Yakima since Labor Day, Cowichan Indians have returned home with empty pockets, according to a report in the Cowichan Leader.

The operations of bootleggers, who eluded police and found their way into the camps, is blamed. The operators of the hop fields tried to stop the bootleggers. A policeman was placed on the gate day and night, but the bootleggers managed to elude the guard and get the liquor to the Indians.

Apart from the sale of liquor the

McDowell Raps Mounting Debt

Attributes Rising Commodity Costs to Increase in Interest Needs

At a well-attended meeting yesterday in Liberal headquarters at Fort Street-Richmond Road intersection, C. J. McDowell, Liberal candidate for Victoria, described the rising federal debt under the present Conservative administration, attributed the increase in prices to the present tariff system and—taking a suggestion from Carew Martin, a previous speaker—bestowed upon the present Conservative member for the city the appellation "Fogbound Plunkett."

Frank C. Hall, Vancouver, also spoke, deploring the breach of faith in Premier Bennett's neglect of the unemployment question and pointing to the hopes of youth for a sound government along the Liberal lines. After criticizing D. B. Plunkett, M.P., for his adverse remarks on Victoria's suitability for an airbase, Mr. McDowell turned his attention to statements of Premier Bennett on his last visit to Victoria. He had "saved" Canada in as much as he had protected its credit, a worthwhile thing, Mr. McDowell said. But, the speaker added, the prime minister had said nothing of the farmers who had lost their farms, business men who had lost their business and home owners who had lost their homes through heavy taxation during his regime.

The Victoria Liberal candidate drew attention to the difference in Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, in his humanitarian remarks here and the autocratic utterances of the premier.

STILL WAITING

Mr. McDowell reviewed the history of the $40,000,000 federal public works project of 1934, noting that while eastern Canada and as far west as Calgary and Vancouver had started work on constructions financed by big appropriations, Victoria was still waiting for its new marine building, a project of comparative smallness.

He traced the rise of the national debt under the Conservative government and went on to show the increased taxation it had involved. Mr. McDowell touched upon the curtailment of credit and the resultant boost in interest rates and continued with an explanation of how the greater debt had caused a rise in the price of commodities to the consumer through further taxation.

He scouted many of the alleged benefits of the Ottawa trade agreements and declared Japan had shut out Canadian goods through a high protective tariff in retaliation to wails raised against Nippon's exports to this country.

Copied Mr. McDowell cited the difference in commodity prices in the United States and those in Canada, inferring the excessive taxes required to meet the mounting federal debt were responsible for the adverse comparison.

He staunchly supported the complete Liberal platform and made the one promise "I will look after the interests of Victoria if I am sent to Ottawa."

TWO PARTY CONTEST

Carew Martin, speaking at the beginning of the meeting declared the federal election a contest between two parties, the Liberals and Conservatives, stating the other entries were not numerically strong enough to form a government. He attacked

Indians report they received good treatment. Families were able to make between $4 and $9 a day. They had their fares paid to and from the hopfields.

H. Grahame, Indian Agent, hopes to persuade the government to send an official of the Indian Department with the hope pickers in future.

C.C.P. principals of socializing production and resources and referred to the "defiant, autocratic" attitude taken by Premier Bennett in his Victoria appearance. Mr. Martin spoke of Mr. Mackenzie King's call for fair treatment and the eventual abolition of unemployment camps and closed with a reference to Mr. Plunkett's action in stating Victoria was fogbound for seven months of the year and unsuitable as a plane base before dubbing the Conservative member "Fogbound" Plunkett.

Mr. Hall spoke of the young man's reaction to the present campaign, declaring the younger element was not so much interested in immediate palliatives as an assured future on stable grounds. He directed fire upon unemployment and followed with a denunciation of Mr. Bennett's failure to meet his last pre-election promises.

S. Hunt occupied the chair during the meeting.

CONTINUE TO COLLECT FEES

Sanich is satisfied the collection of trades licenses from Victoria merchants doing general business in the northern municipality is a just levy, and is prepared to face retaliatory levies imposed by the city on Sanich firms serving Victoria, Reeve Wm. Crouch stated to-day.

He was clarifying a report to the effect threat of levies by the city had quashed license collection of that nature by Sanich.

The question was brought up when the Hillside Purify Store wrote to the City Council some time ago, stating Sanich was attempting to make collection of the license because the store, as a courtesy to Sanich residents, delivered in that municipality.

The letter, received several weeks ago, caused considerable comment in the council chamber, where certain aldermen stated Victoria would apply the same principle to Sanich concerns which sold commodities of various natures in the city.

The matter was referred to the city solicitor to determine the legality of a double levy against a firm which had already paid its license in the city.

"Sanich collects in certain cases," Reeve Crouch stated to-day. If the city wished to apply similar fees against Sanich merchants dealing with city residents such action would not be contested by his municipality, he added.

STORIES IN STAMPS

By I. S. Klein

THE CATACOMBS RESTORED

WHEN THE Treaty of Conciliation was signed between Italy and the Vatican, in 1929, one of the invaluable possessions of Christianity which was returned to papal control was the more than 500 miles of catacombs dug in a maze of tunnels beneath the city of Rome. These catacombs were the burial places of Christians in Roman times. In the third century they harbored Christians fleeing from pagan persecution.

By the fifth century, the catacombs were neglected, then ransacked by the Goths and Lombards, and finally forgotten. They were rediscovered in 1578.

Returned to the sovereignty of the Holy see, the catacombs are being restored. To aid financially in this effort, Spain late in 1928 issued the stamp shown here. It pictures Pope Pius XI wearing his triple crown, or tiara, and the then King Alfonso XIII of Spain.

APPEALING FOR X-RAY FUND

Royal Oak Women's Institute Need $700 More for Solarium Equipment

In an endeavor to complete their fund for the purchase of a much-needed X-ray equipment for the Queen Alexandra Solarium, the Royal Oak Women's Institute is making an earnest appeal for donations to this most worthy cause.

This little band of women have raised all but $700 of the amount required, and they are hoping that generous friends will send in contributions to enable the equipment to be purchased before the winter sets in, thus sparing the little patients the trying journey into town for examination.

The appeal is being made so that it will not conflict with Christmas appeals, when so many calls are made on the public purse. Donations may be sent to the Solarium office, Pemberton Building.

Twenty-five Years Ago To-day

OCTOBER 4, 1910

(From The Times Files)
At last evening's meeting of the City Council bids for the construction of the sea wall along Dallas Road foreshore were received and referred to the city engineer the city solicitor and the city purchasing agent for report. Eight tenders in all were received and there was a surprising variation in the estimated cost of the work, the bids ranging from over $100,000 to less than $75,000.

Signal fires and snuggles will mark the course of the aviators who attempt the Chicago-New York flight next Saturday, according to an announcement made to-day by Augustus Post, secretary of the Aero Club of America, which is arranging the meet.

Each day brings its quota of sundry inquiries to Ernest McCaffy, secretary of the Vancouver Island Development League, from various parts of the world. The majority of the inquiries ask for information regarding the climatic conditions prevailing here and the agricultural resources of this island. In reply to these books and pamphlets, describing every section of the island are forwarded.

The soccer football league shaped itself already after the two opening Saturdays, and the judges of the teams on their merits are saying all ready that Victoria West will be the city champions again this year.

A decision was reached at last evening's meeting of the City Council to proceed at once with the paving of Port Street, between Yates Street junction and St. Charles Street, in accordance with the wishes of the property owners along that thoroughfare, who long ago petitioned for the work.

JUBILEE TRIP IS DESCRIBED

Mrs. J. H. Plaskett Gives Chapter Impressions of Old Country Celebrations

"When you enter the war memorial shrine in Edinburgh Castle you just naturally bow your head." These words, spoken by Mrs. J. H. Plaskett on a day when the first news of casualties in Ethiopia had just arrived, had a telling significance to the members of the Sir James and Lady Douglas Chapter yesterday.

This reference to the shrine was part of an informal talk about a wonderful trip the speaker and her husband, Dr. Plaskett, had just taken to England, Scotland and France.

The Silver Jubilee celebration was recounted by the speaker.

Dr. and Mrs. Plaskett occupied seats close to Buckingham Palace and had a splendid view of all the proceedings, which she vividly described. Mentioning the marvelous decorations of some of the large shops, the speaker said Edinburgh alone spent $50,000 on their own decorations.

One of the features of the Jubilee consisted in a treat to the children, 90,000, who were treated to milk, potato chips and fruit.

While speaking of the King and Queen, Mrs. Plaskett mentioned that while visiting Holyrood in Edinburgh they saw a chair covered with petticoat work by the Queen. Also many chairs similarly done by duchesses of the realm, each chair named for the one who had worked it.

While conversing with Professor Haldane with regard to the I.O.D.E. bursary holders at Oxford University, Mrs. Plaskett found that the bursary holders expressed a fervent desire that the scholarship could be of two years' duration instead of one, as at present, because so much more satisfactory would be accomplished. As a result of this direct contact, the Sir James and Lady Douglas Chapter intend to press the matter further, it was decided.

Mrs. R. B. McKicking cordially thanked Mrs. Plaskett, on behalf of the chapter, for her very interesting and instructive talk.

The regular business meeting preceded the talk and Miss Josephine Crease was appointed delegate to represent the chapter at the semi-annual provincial meeting at Powell River.

Miss Macmillan reported on the opening exercises of Sir James Douglas School. The Girl Guides intend holding a swimming gala at the Crystal Garden later on this month. Miss Lee reported fifty calendars and fifty cards with the King's message to the children are to be purchased and distributed by the chapter.

A bridge tea will be held on the birthday of British Columbia November 19. Mrs. T. B. Monk is to act as convener for Foppy Day. Mrs. Bertha Parsons read the Y.W.C.A. travel report.

Mrs. Crawford, the Echoes secretary, read a letter from Major Stanley Oskell which recounted the story of the visit of twenty-eight Canadian soldiers and their English camp cemetery.

As an act of respect to San Juan County World War dead, the veterans placed a wreath (donated by the Red Cross Workshop) on the Memorial monument and a similar wreath in the English camp cemetery—each grave being decorated with a small Union Jack, a gift of the I.O.D.E.

A letter of thanks was received from Mrs. Fordham Johnson in appreciation of the basket of heater, sent to her on Heather Day. Mrs. Colin Cummins, the regent, presided.

Mrs. J. W. Spencer, who went over to Vancouver at the beginning of the week, is the house guest of Col. and Mrs. Victor Spencer at "Aberthau."

Mr. and Mrs. M. Kersey (nee Monaghan), who have been spending their honeymoon in California, returned home yesterday afternoon, and have taken up their residence at 857 Victoria Avenue, Oak Bay.

Mr. H. A. M. Roberts of the American Trust Company, Oakland, with his wife and little daughter, Jean, have arrived by motor from California to spend a vacation here, and are the guests of Mr. Roberts' father, Mr. T. Roberts, 408 Young Street.

The Misses Fraser returned to Victoria on Wednesday after spending the last few years in England, and are guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Fraser, 1520 Despard Avenue. They were accompanied from England by their sister, Mrs. T. G. R. Savage, who will remain here for an extended visit.

Mrs. Stewart Turkington of Vancouver will arrive from Vancouver tomorrow to spend the week-end in Victoria as the guest of her uncle and aunt, Sir Frank and Lady Bernard, and to bid "bon voyage" to Mrs. Charles Lowen, who will sail tomorrow with her children for her home in India.

RECALLS BIRTH OF BEST SELLER

L. M. Montgomery Tells How She Wrote "Anne of Green Gables"

Canadian Press
Toronto, Oct. 4.—Nearly three decades ago a young lady in the old kitchen of Prince Edward Island farm home had the vision of a red-headed girl with "e" at the end of her name, and the result was the beloved "Anne of Green Gables."

Testing she did not create Anne, but the heroine just "popped into my mind with her red hair and 'e' at the end of her name," Mrs. Ewen Macdonald, better known as "L. M. Montgomery," author of eighteen or nineteen books, disclosed to the English-speaking Union here last night the genesis of the book.

"I wrote 'Anne of Green Gables,' chapter by chapter, in the kitchen of the old farm house in stormy winter when we could not go out much, and later typed it on my little old machine, which would not print the 'm' at all, and had a crooked 'y,' said Mrs. Macdonald.

After three publishers returned the manuscript she finally stored it away in an old box. When the manuscript dropped out while she was housecleaning, "I sat down and read it and hope you won't think I am conceited when I tell you I found it interesting," Mrs. Macdonald related. Eventually it found its way to a fourth publisher and international recognition.

Golden Wedding Of Old-timers

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clark of Otter Point Celebrate Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clark, "Glenwood" Otter Point, celebrated their golden wedding on Friday. A family gathering of nineteen at dinner included their two daughters, Mrs. Henry Dods of Duncan and Mrs. George Davies of Otter Point, with their respective husbands, and their son, Reginald, and his wife. There are thirteen grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark, both natives of Southampton, England, were married there in September, 1885. Coming to the Pacific Coast in 1889, Mr. Clark spent some time in the state of Washington, leaving there the day Seattle was laid in ruins by the great fire.

He then made his home in Victoria, where he was joined by Mrs. Clark in 1890. For some years they farmed at Cordova Bay, and in 1893 settled at Otter Point, where they have made their home ever since.

In 1893 Mr. Clark got the mail contract from Victoria to Sooke and Otter Point, which he retained for sixteen years. At first he made one trip a week each way, then twice a week, and finally during the last few years three times per week.

Mr. Clark was a very well-known figure in the business section of Victoria, many of the old-timers remembering him quite well in his "ten gallon" Stetson hat. The old stage which he drove was an interesting exhibit in the last May 24 parade.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Clark are in the enjoyment of good health, and received many congratulations on passing the half century mark in their married life.

Generous Response To Orphanage Pound Party

The most generous response for several years gladdened the hearts of the ladies' committee of the B.C. Protestant Orphan's Home yesterday afternoon on the occasion of the annual pound party. This aid is particularly timely as conditions in the last few years have materially affected the home and made the committee's task of caring for their little wards an anxious one, despite the most rigid economy.

MANY VISITORS
Guests were welcomed by the president, Mrs. F. V. Longstaff, and Mrs. R. T. Elliott. Presiding at the tea table, which was decorated with Michaelmas daisies and goldenrod, were Mrs. W. Loney and Mrs. A. McKeown, assisted by Mrs. R. Heddie, Mrs. Hughes, Mrs. A. Grimison, Mrs. Coultas, Mrs. O. M. Brown and Miss Murray.

Mrs. F. C. Dillabough was at the receipt of custom, and Mrs. Frank Calvert, Mrs. W. Dinmore, Mrs. E. M. Brown and Mrs. J. G. Simpson received the other donations.

Visitors were much interested in and the committee was most grateful to "Dr." Charlie Haddock, who gave the occasion a special significance for the children at the home by bringing supplies for a hot-dog supper, which he cooked in the ground, much to the delight of the boys and girls.

HOLYROOD FOR ROYAL COUPLE

Suggestion Made in Edinburgh For Duke of Kent's Residence

Canadian Press Cable
London, Oct. 4.—His Majesty the King to-day gave formal assent to the marriage of his third son, the Duke of Gloucester, to Lady Alice Scott.

Consent to the marriage was given under the great seal of the realm, the seal consists of two massive silver discs, elaborately engraved and hinged together. The corn which is attached to the document of consent is inserted between the discs and mottos sealing was paused in producing an impression as big as a muffin.

The Privy Council at which consent was given lasted only a quarter of an hour. Attending were the Archbishop of Canterbury, Lord Halifax, Prime Minister Baldwin, Ramsay MacDonald and Sir John Simon. Except for the ceremony of the formal consent the Council was occupied with routine business.

The King's return to London, it was said, was without significance in the international situation. His Majesty, in fact, is likely to remain only a few days, going to Sandringham for the shooting until just before the wedding. The suggestion is mooted in Edinburgh that the Duke and Duchess of Gloucester may make their permanent residence at Holyrood Palace.

Bubbles, a pure powdered soap, guarantees economy. It lasts three times as long. Phone G 4934.

The woman exclaimed, "Well, now!" She was silent for a long time. Ruth hoped it was permanent. But after a bit she remarked thoughtfully, "I had a niece by marriage that went there last year from Jersey. She and another girl. They tried to get jobs there but they couldn't. They had to leave."

Ruth was now attentive. "You mean they couldn't find any work to do?" she asked. "Not either of them?" "No, they couldn't," the woman replied. "My niece said most towns have a way of looking after their permanent residents before they give jobs to outsiders. She and this other girl stayed five weeks and then gave it up and left. They were hitch-hiking," she explained.

"Oh," said Ruth. She leaped into silence and misgivings. "I didn't mean to discourage you," the woman remarked. "I guess I should've kept my mouth shut. My niece's little Cogly," she paused to introduce herself. "I'm always saying things to people, so you mustn't mind me. Maybe you'll find him in Buffalo."

Ruth smiled at her. "Thank you, Mrs. Cogly. My name's Ruth Woodson. I think you did right well to tell me your niece's experience. Where is she now?"

"Well," replied Mrs. Cogly, "that's the nice part of it. She and this girl went on to Pittsburgh. It was, I think, you know, and 'lucky' all the way. They got a place in Pittsburgh called the Girl's Industrial League and they live there now. - Oh they did the last time I heard, which was two or three months ago. This place is a big old residence that somebody donated to the welfare people. They take in girls that can't afford to pay and provide work for them—something like those camps Mrs. Roosevelt started. I guess I recall my niece said they were all doing hooked rugs at the time, and getting paid for it. The welfare people sell the rugs, see, and that helps keep the League going."

Ruth said, "It sounds like a good idea. It would enable a girl to live decently until she could get her bearings."

"Yeah," Mrs. Cogly replied in a loud, cheerful voice and looked out of the window at the brightening landscape. There was a twenty-minute silence, broken at last by Ruth. She said, "I've decided to go on to Pittsburgh, on account of what you've just told me. Can I catch a bus from Buffalo this morning, do you think?"

"Sure you can," Mrs. Cogly assured her. "Some time before noon. I'm going to take that bus myself. But first I'm going out to see Niagara Falls. That's why I came this way. You ought to see Niagara yourself, dearie."

"How much will it cost?" Ruth inquired cautiously.

"I've heard there's a local bus takes you there and back for $2," Mrs. Cogly answered.

"Well," said Ruth, the adventurous, "I believe I'll go."

Seeing Niagara Falls with Mrs. Cogly was an experience Ruth was never to forget. There was Mrs. Cogly at her elbow to point out such obvious items as souvenirs for sale and honeymooning couples and hotel flower beds and raincoated tourists about to go under the cataract. And there was Niagara itself, detached and thunderous and terrible and gorgeous, roaring its merciless way to the sea. Moreover, returning, there was that magnificent street shaded by four rows of towering elms, which is one of America's own wonders. Back at the bus station, Ruth said, "It's hard to think in dimes and pennies after looking at old Niagara. But I've got to do a little calculating. It's going to cost me $5 to get to Pittsburgh. Now let's see how much that leaves me for a change of clothes and a toothbrush."

"Land's sake!" shrieked Mrs. Cogly in consternation. "Did you come off without any clothes? I thought you were checking your bags while I was checking mine."

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Young as the year is, some mothers are already racing their brains for ideas for school lunches. Happily for children in large city schools or in modern, rural consolidated schools, cafeteria may solve the problem, or the school may be in a position to furnish at least one hot dish around which the child may build a complete and satisfying lunch.

In such cases, some fruit and a simple sweet may complete the lunch, and milk or a hot drink be procured at the school. When cafeteria service is furnished the mother's chief concern is to stimulate in the child the desire to eat a well balanced lunch instead of the type chosen by one chocolate-mad child—ice cream with chocolate sauce, a chocolate ice cream sandwich and a piece of cake with chocolate frosting. Honestly!

But when the whole noon meal must be prepared at home it demands thought and judicious planning. Some suggestions are made in our leaflet, "School Lunches for Children," which will be sent to any reader who sends a self addressed and stamped envelope and asks for it of Myrtle Meyer Eldred of the "Your Baby and Mine" department of this newspaper.

When lunches must be carried some distance their eventual condition at meal time, after being subjected to intense cold or prolonged heat, or both, will depend entirely upon the way they are packed. The tin lunch box can hardly be improved upon and it should be scrubbed and sterilized in boiling water often to rid it of any unpleasant odors of past lunches.

Waxed paper wrappers, waxed paper cups for servings, or puddings or gelatin will facilitate the packing of the food. All foods should be wrapped separately to prevent drying out, as well as becoming mixed with each other. Large and sturdy paper napkins will be a help to the child who must wipe moist hands thoroughly dry.

A substantial sandwich is usually the foundation stone of most box lunches and if the mother plans her meals well she will have meat, or eggs, or vegetables or fruits or nuts from which to manufacture a filling. For those days when the icebox is bare, let her provide small cans of fish or cheese or sandwich relish and make use of various kinds of bread to vary the monotony of sandwiches.

PUBLIC WORKS ARE FAVORED

Stevens Plans Them As Means to End Unemployment, Says George

Advocating the removal of level crossings on the railway lines of Canada, and stating such was one of the planks in Hon. H. H. Stevens' platform, Percy E. George, Reconstruction Party candidate in the Victoria riding, spoke at a meeting at the South Park School yesterday evening. Herbert Boothman occupied the chair, and Mr. George was supported on the platform by Frank H. Partridge. Mr. George said the present level railroad crossings on the Canadian railways were obsolete. He referred to the recent passage of a particularly fast train in the United States, and recalled how it was necessary to have policemen stationed at all crossings to prevent accidents.

The elimination of such crossings in Canada would be a great help to the unemployed, as it would provide them with work, Mr. George said, and it would also be a fine thing for the future of the railways in Canada. When the country was in the proper situation it would mean more modern rolling stock.

Mr. George referred to Premier Bennett's handling of the unemployed question during his term of office. If he had done his work well, the speaker said, the youth would not be in re-employment camps, under the Department of National Defence.

"Mr. Bennett, in his handling of the situation, has created more Communists than I could count in a week," said Mr. George. "Surely he could have received the men, talked to them, and tried to show them the errors of their way."

He said the Reconstruction Party was definitely pledged to try, in some policies of public works, to give the unemployed youth of Canada something better to think about. He said this would be done in the first year of office. He stated Mr. Stevens intended to have the trans-Canada highway completed, thus providing a great deal of work.

TOURIST PARADISE
"There would be a system of development of Canada's northland," Mr. George said. "This, as you know, is undeveloped, but is full of natural resources and could be made a paradise for the tourists in the summer."

Mr. George also spoke of the rehousing programme, saying it was "only sane and reasonable that we should have some programme of reconstruction for replacements in our homes."

Mr. George gave it as his opinion that the provincial governments would co-operate with Ottawa, no matter what party was put into power at the federal election.

Mr. Stevens was pledged, the candidate said, to try and bring the big financial institutions to time and ask them to "open up the pure strings." He spoke of the Canadian dollar in relation to world trade, and said Mr. Bennett ridiculed all efforts of Mr. Stevens and others to stabilize the Canadian dollar with the pound.

"During the past three or four years, in my many activities in Victoria I realized there was something wrong," Mr. George stated. "I could not go with the C.C.F. because that was going too far."

He said he thought the Stevens plan the same, sensible and kind way to administer the affairs of the public.

Mr. Partridge, in speaking briefly, said large amounts of money were being spent on the present campaign, and that it was coming from private sources. He said the major parties were insulting the intelligence of the electors.

He believed "promotion in the civil service should be on merit only. He thought Social Credit and its principles a fine thing, but that, personally, he could not endorse it, not having studied it thoroughly enough."

Y.M.C.A. NOTES

At a supper at the "Y" Wednesday the Toastmasters Club held its organization meeting. The following officers were elected to act for the year: President, J. H. Hill; secretary, J. O. Johnson; and membership chairman, G. G. Fraser.

The club will go through the season as a member of the Toastmasters International and will be the first club in Canada to have an active chapter, having had for some time an associate chapter. The group will meet every Wednesday evening to participate in a programme of toasts and speeches.

There was a good attendance at the Speakers Club at its first meeting Wednesday in the Y.M.C.A. Dr. A. M. Menzies was elected president, Col. D. McCougan vice-president, G. F. Sharpe secretary-treasurer and Frank Paulding coach.

The Speakers Club dealt with advanced courses at 8 o'clock in the Y.M.C.A. to discuss the membership drive.

Last night the ladies' public speaking class held its organization meeting and will operate along the same lines as the men's group. A second public speaking class for men will meet on Friday nights. There are still several vacancies.

There will be a committee meeting this evening at 8 o'clock in the Y.M.C.A. to discuss the membership drive.

With the girls' swimming class from six to ten years already filled, the swimming groups coached by Archie McKinnon are progressing favorably. The corresponding boys' class, a special group and not included in the general programme, is not quite full. Information on this class may be obtained by phoning the Y.M.C.A.

Coach McKinnon was assisted at yesterday's women's and girls' classes by George Ridge, Madge Carter and Ruby Davidson. Kewpie Unsworth is expected to add to the coaching staff for the women's swimming classes.

Vancouver, Oct. 4.—Italian residents of Vancouver are offering themselves for service in the armies of Italy, according to Pietro Colbaltello, acting Italian vice-consul here.

"About fifteen men have so far requested me to take their names as volunteers to fight," he said. "It is not the practice of Italy to call to the colors reservists resident in foreign lands, but they can volunteer."

He said he had similar requests from English-born Canadians. Toyasu Mitamura, head of the "Black Dragon" society, which recently called on the Japanese government to balk Italy's Ethiopian adventure, is a little old man of eighty, and when he crooks his finger at anyone, that person, be he prince or coolie, quakes with fear.

Pipes and Drums of Second Battalion, Canadian Scottish, in Ceremony

The second battalion, the Canadian Scottish Regiment, paid its compliments to Brigadier Donald J. MacDonald, D.S.O.,

M.C. district officer commanding Military District No. 11 Wednesday afternoon, when the pipes and drums on the unit sounded Retreat at Work Point Barracks.

Twenty-five members of the band, headed by Pipe Major Donald Cameron, performed the ceremonial of Retreat, with the usual quick march and slow march.

The parade ground at Work Point where the ceremonial took place was well thronged with members of the permanent force and the militia units.

Bill Dale Is Awarded Cherished Sportsmanship Trophy

THE SPORTS MIRROR

AN IDEA OF the tremendous strides which hockey has made in Britain can be secured from statements made by J. F. Ahearne, secretary of the British Ice Hockey Association, during his recent visit to Canada. The energetic British official was justifiably enthusiastic over the prospects in Europe and more pleased with the results of a recent conference with officials of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

After witnessing 121 games of hockey last year, Mr. Ahearne anticipates more than 200 matches being played over there this season. Some appreciation of the foothold which hockey has gained in England may be derived from the fact that not a night, excluding Sunday, will pass this winter in London without a hockey game as one of the sport attractions. Some evenings will witness more than one game during a season extending from October 9 until the end of April.

Three leagues will contribute to this long and crowded schedule, and while the intention is to furnish English fans with first-class hockey attractions, restrictions on imports will offer every opportunity for young English players to take up the game. Most stringent of these restrictions apply to the English league, which embraces nine teams, all of which are confined to the use of only two Canadian-born players.

Eight or nine strong clubs will make up the English National League, which promises this year to furnish a higher class of hockey than at any time in the past. Each team may use as many imported Canadian stars as they desire, but are compelled to carry at least four English players.

The international tinge will be supplied in an eight-team circuit comprised of six English clubs and two Paris teams, which will form a western division. The eastern section of the international circuit will be made up of teams from Prague, Vienna, Berlin and other European centres.

Evidence of the far-reaching policy adopted by the British association is apparent in plans now under way to promote the game among public schools through formation of a school league. Five per cent of receipts from all English hockey attractions will be turned over to fund the purpose of which will be to pay for buses for junior players at some of the smaller clubs.

With Gabby Hartnett, famous catcher of the Chicago Cubs, being mentioned often these days as a result of his taking part in the world baseball series against the Detroit Tigers we are reminded of the tale of the tourist who was riding a limited train from Chicago to Kansas City. As the train was about to leave the station, the tourist was reading newspapers in the Pullman car. One discarded newspaper, final evening sports final, was lying in the seat beside him.

The Pullman conductor came along and asked the passenger if he could have the discarded newspaper. Why, certainly, Don't mention it. But the Pullman conductor went on to the plain, anyway. In a few minutes they would be passing a switch tower at Camden Junction, Mo. The man in the tower had no way of getting late papers from Chicago unless the conductor tossed one off to him. The towerman was all wrapped up in the pennant spirit of the Chicago Cubs. "You see," explained the conductor, "he's Gabby Hartnett's brother."

CRUTCHFIELD IS MUCH IMPROVED

Shawinigan Falls, Que., Oct. 4.—Nelson Crutchfield's condition considerably improved yesterday, Dr. D. L. McDonald, of Joyce Memorial Hospital said. The centre and defence player of Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League suffered a fractured skull in an automobile accident last Saturday.

Henry Woods Wins In Tough Battle

Portland, Oct. 4.—Henry Woods, 198, Taklma, edged out a close decision over Battling Glazey, 140, Pittsburgh, in a ten-round main event here yesterday evening. Glazey hit harder, but Woods made his wallop count.

Selected Winner Of Aldous Cup By Y Track Team IS HONORED

OAK BAY GOLF TEAM TRAVELS

Will Oppose Cowichan Club Players at Duncan Sunday

A team from the Victoria Golf Club will travel to Duncan on Sunday for a return match with representatives of the Cowichan Golf and Country Club. The up-land players visited Oak Bay recently.

Local players should arrange to reach Duncan at 9:30 o'clock in order to provide time for both morning and afternoon rounds. Singles will be played in the morning and foursomes after lunch.

GRASS HOCKEY GAME BILLED

Victoria Club to Meet Up-land Squad Sunday, Oct. 13; Elect Officers

At the annual meeting of the Victoria Grass Hockey Club held recently it was decided to usher in the season's play on Sunday, October 13, with a match against the Optimists, an up-land aggregation, at the Admirals Road grounds at 2:30 o'clock.

C. Jones was elected captain of the men's division and Miss E. MacKenzie was chosen captain of the women's section. A. D. King was appointed secretary of the men's division.

There is no specified league for this game, although many games are played throughout the season. The Victoria club plays against aggregations from Shawnigan Lake, Duncan, Saanich and a number of other clubs. Teams will also be sent to Vancouver during the season.

The Victoria Grass Hockey Club will hold a practice to-morrow afternoon at Hollywood Park at 2:30 o'clock. All members are requested to turn out.

London, Oct. 4.—Sir Abe Bailey's Doreen Jane was quoted at low odds of 100 to 9 in yesterday's callover for the Casewitch Stakes, to be run at Newmarket, October 16.

High School Boy Joins Chuck Cunningham and Joe Addison in Honor List

PRESENTATION DUE SHORTLY

Bill Dale, lanky High School half miler, who this year won the provincial and Vancouver Island championships at that distance for Archie McKinnon's Flying Y squad, today held the most cherished laurel his teammates could bestow upon him.

By ballot of his fellow performers, he was judged this year's winner of the Aldous Memorial Cup, the trophy which symbolizes the highest ideals of sportsmanship displayed by a member of the association's running team. His name will follow that of Chuck Cunningham, first winner of the award, and Joe Addison upon whom the honor was conferred last year. No athlete may hold the cup more than one year.

CONDITIONS

Conditions for the cup are outlined as follows: "The cup is presented at the close of the track season to the Y.M.C.A. runner or field man who approximates most nearly the virtues of the Aldous boys. He will be the athlete who has shown the finest sportsmanship and the greatest spirit in competition, and is the most graceful loser or winner—a boy who holds the game above the prize."

According to the conditions, the winner need not necessarily be an outstanding victor in the lists of track and field athletics. True sportsmanship is the cardinal requisite for the award.

HONORABLE MENTION

The boys who carried the Flying Y colors so successfully in the season recently concluded, overtaking him in the race for the honor, Honorary mention, through votes, was also conferred upon Owen Bentley, Bill Thompson, Lorne McGregor, Paul Rowe, Wilson Johnson, Jim Cousins, Art Chapman and Bob Hughes.

Twenty-seven ballots of a total thirty-two had been returned when the count was made today.

The trophy will be presented at a track banquet in the near future as the boys gather together to discuss plans for next season and discuss events of the 1935 year.

RIGGS SCORES TENNIS UPSET

Berkeley, Cal., Oct. 4.—Outstanding his older rival throughout a corking battle, youthful Robert Riggs of Los Angeles, defeated Wilmer Hines, Columbia, N.C., 7-5, 1-6, 6-2, in a men's singles quarter-finals match yesterday in the Pacific Coast tennis tournament.

The pair fired shots from all parts of the court in the best match of the day. Freda James, English Wightman Cup player, and Carolin Babcock, Los Angeles, of the American Wightman forces, won their quarter-finals matches in the singles division.

Miss James took the measure of Frances Uphill, Oakland, 6-3, 10-8, while Miss Babcock won in somewhat easier fashion from Nancy Lyle, teammate of Miss James, by scores of 6-3, 6-1.

A quarter-finals test in the men's doubles saw the Budge brothers, Don and Lloyd, on opposite sides of the net. Don, America's youthful Davis Cup star, and his partner Gene Smith, Berkeley, triumphed over Lloyd Budge and John Murio, San Francisco, 6-4, 6-1.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS

—By John Hix

Strange as it seems, Yuma, Arizona, owes its location, if not its existence—to the fact that a ferryman on the Colorado River agreed to take a city lot in the new town in lieu of a $25 fee for ferrying a surveying party across the river.

The surveyors, led by Charles D. Poston, were looking over the new country for mineral wealth in 1853 when they came to what is now Yuma. They wanted to cross the river at this point but could not furnish the $25 fee demanded by L. J. F. Jager, the ferryman.

Poston and his party made camp and decided to lay out a townsite on the spot. They made up a map, laying out streets and public squares. Soon this activity had the ferryman interested. He approached the party and bargained for a lot. Finally they agreed to give him a choice lot if he would ferry them across the river. The plan worked.

O'SHOCKER IS BEATEN

New York Grappler Drops First Match in Vancouver to Babe Zaharias

Vancouver, Oct. 4.—Pat O'Shocker, 243, New York, suffered his first defeat in Vancouver yesterday evening when he lost a two-out-of-three fall decision to "Babe" Zaharias, 218, Colorado, in the main event of a mat card here.

The lightning moves of Zaharias baffled the busy New Yorker and he fell victim to a body slam in the first round. After a series of shoulder butts in the third, O'Shocker tied the count with a body slam, but the next round saw Zaharias come in to repeat his performance of the first round to take the match.

Johnny Pears Is Confined to Bed

Johnny Pears, Victoria's well-known and popular wrestling referee, is still confined to his bed as a result of the injuries he suffered during a match here several months ago. Pears was up and around for a short time, but has been forced to lay up again, and will remain in bed until Christmas. He is at his home at 850 Cormorant street, and would welcome any of his athletic friends who might wish to visit him.

Huddersfield To Face Stiff Test

English First Division Football Leaders Meet Tough Opposition To-morrow in Leeds United; Sunderland Meets Liverpool; Leading Scottish Teams Weakened

London, Oct. 4.—Possibility of a tie for leadership of the English Football League is seen in the fixtures scheduled for to-morrow. Huddersfield Town is at the top of the heap with fifteen points, but the Yorkshiremen will meet sturdy foes when they visit Leeds United.

The United has made a great recovery after a weak start, and if it is successful in landing the points Huddersfield will probably be forced to share the leadership with one or more of the four teams tied for second place.

Manchester City is favored over Stoke City at Marine Road, and Sunderland should account for Liverpool, but Wolverhampton Wanderers, minus three players, is not fancied to win at Derby, and Middlesbrough, the other team tied for runner-up position, faces a tough match with Bolton.

SECOND DIVISION
O'Callaghan and Jones, Leicester City stars, turned down invitations to play for Wales in the international to help their club retain first place in the second division against Doncaster Rovers.

Glasgow, Oct. 4.—Leading teams in the Scottish Football League will miss their star players to-morrow. Aberdeen supply two men for the team to represent Scotland against Wales at Cardiff, Rangers two and Celtic one. The Dons, at home to Partick Thistle, are one point behind Celtic, league leaders, who clash with Kilmarnock. The Glasgow side will be without Delaney, a star winger, but should have little difficulty in accounting for the lorry-paced Killies.

Rangers contributed Simpson and Brown to the international side, but are not likely to let down the Ibrox Park crowd in the match with Dunfermline Athletic.

Leading teams in the second division are again among the visiting clubs. Sir Mifflin and Parkie should be successful at Portar and Stenhousemuir respectively, but Morton will meet stiff opposition from the United at Dundee. St. Bernards may experience trouble against the vastly improved Edinburgh City squad.

PHILADELPHIA AFTER FIGHT

Group of Sportsmen Will Make Effort to Secure Louis-Schmeling Bout

Philadelphia, Oct. 4.—Philadelphia stepped into the middle of the heavyweight fight picture yesterday with a determined bid to have the proposed Joe Louis-Max Schmeling bout brought here next June.

The first step, looking to negotiations with the Twentieth Century Sporting Club of New York, was taken by a group of prominent sportsmen headed by Lawson Robertson, veteran United States Olympic team coach, and John B. Kelly, one-time Olympic rowing great, in the formation of an all-Philadelphia Athletic Association.

Under present plans, the clash would be held in the Municipal Stadium—the same ring that saw Gene Tunney take Jack Dempsey's heavyweight crown away in 1926.

WASHINGTON—Joe Savoldi, 230, Three Oaks, Mich., defeated Dick Raines, 230, Texas, one fall.
Camden, N.J.—Ed Don George, 224, Buffalo, N.Y., defeated George Zaharias, 231, Pueblo, Colo. Tow falls out of three.
Cincinnati—Everett Marshall, 218, La. Junta, Colo., defeated Hans Schnabel, 212, Germany, one fall.
Toronto—Jim Brannigan, 228, Verona, Mo., defeated Ernie Dusek, 200, Omaha, Neb., two falls.

94,133 Attend World Series

Defroit, Oct. 4.—The official figures for the second game of the world baseball series yesterday were as follows:

Total receipts, $144,725.
Players' share, $73,809.75.
Share of the contesting clubs, $12,801.37.
Share of the two leagues, $22,301.57.
Total attendance for two days, 94,133.
Total receipts for two days, $290,157.

TROJANS WILL TACKLE GAELS

California and St. Mary's in First "Natural" of U.S. Coast Football

San Francisco, Oct. 4.—The Pacific Coast's thousands of football faithful, their appetites whetted by last week's opening skirmishes, trot stadiumward to-morrow to witness games calculated to test the strength of major contenders from Seattle to Los Angeles.

Sixty-five thousand fans are expected to jam the big concrete bowl at Berkeley, where University of California's Bears and the St. Mary's Gaels meet in the first big "natural" of the 1935 season.

At least half as many will gather at Kezar Stadium here to see the Stanford University Indians tackle the Dons of the University of San Francisco in a game designed to give an early insight into the big red team's chances of winning its third consecutive coast conference title and rose bowl bid.

Smaller, but equally football-hungry crowds will congregate at Los Angeles, where Southern California's Trojans will tangle with Amos A. Stagg's little college of the Pacific eleven; at Seattle, site of a brand new gridiron match between the Universities of Washington and Santa Clara, and at Portland, where Oregon State meets University of California at Los Angeles in the day's only conference clash.

An intersectional contest at Eugene, Ore., pits University of Utah's Rocky Mountain champions against the University of Oregon. Idaho and Gonzaga tangle at Spokane and Washington State College take it easy against little Willamette.

ANGLING NOTES

Fishing yesterday at Cowichan Bay, Roger Monteith and Graham Harris, 358 Simcoe Street, landed six fine coho salmon ranging from eight to ten pounds. Mr. Monteith states that fishing at the Bay is extraordinary and many limit catches are being made. The catch was on display in front of Monteith's Fishing Tackle store this morning.

Anglers report a large run of cohoes and springs is now on at Brentwood. It is said to be one of the best runs for this time of year, for some years.

Fly fishing at Shawnigan Lake is said to be good with several fine catches being reported.

Cohoos and springs are not so plentiful in the waters off Victoria, although the odd big one is still being landed.

Dunlop Cup Golf At Macaulay Club

Women members of the Macaulay Point Golf Club will play the opening round of the Dunlop Cup competition on Sunday morning. The second eighteen holes will be run off the following Sunday.

The competition is medal play under full handicaps.

The draw and starting times for Sunday follow:
9:30—Miss D. Hobbins, Mrs. C. Brown and Miss N. Hocking.
9:35—Miss H. Irvine, Mrs. C. Denham and Mrs. Poole.
9:40—Miss E. Irvine, Miss I. Jarvis and Miss I. Holyoak.
9:45—Mrs. J. W. Holyoak, Mrs. A. Swan, Miss S. Holyoak and Miss D. Vye.

Second Division Clubs Open Play

First division clubs of the Victoria and District Football League will make their second start of the season to-morrow afternoon with a double-header at the Athletic Park. The four teams in the second division will engage in their initial matches of the season. The complete schedule for to-morrow follows:

FIRST DIVISION

Last Saturday's opening games saw Esquimalt and the City come through to victories, the former over the Victoria West, while the City humbled the Thistles, last year's city title-holders.

In order to be sure of holding their places at the head of the standings the Dockers and City must win to-morrow. For their match against the Thistles Esquimalt will have the same club on the field that took the Wests 3 to 1. Strengthened this season by the addition of several players from the Garrison, the suburban club looks the class of the league, right now. The Thistles, although beaten last week, are confident of making a better showing to-morrow.

CITY GET PRICE

The City club will be further strengthened to-morrow by the inclusion of Freddie Price on their forward line. The former member of the Thistles is a smart performer, and can score goals if he gets the openings. The remainder of the team will be the same as last week.

The Wests will make no changes in their last week's line-up, but are hoping the team will work together better and chalk up a victory.

It was announced yesterday by J. R. Jones, secretary of the Victoria committee of the British Columbia Football Commission, that the first Inter-city League games would be played here on October 12 between Victoria United and New Westminster Royals. On October 24, Thanksgiving Day, the United will play host to North Shore.

SIDELIGHTS ON SERIES

By PAUL MICKELSON
Detroit, Oct. 4.—The Tigers picked just the kind of a day to cool off the hottest team in baseball. It was so cold that the crowd shrank for Admiral Byrd and his penguins.

When the Tigers are down and out they call on Tommy to "bridge" the chasm of despair to the high road of hope. Tommy pitched the Tigers into the lead last year by beating the great Dizzy Dean after Elden Auker had tied it up. And he put them back into the lead yesterday by curving knucklers around the big bad bears' necks.

"Grandpappy" Root didn't go to the showers. He went to a charcoal stove. Poor Charlie! His record is one of the finest in baseball, yet he has yet to finish a world series game. He's started in four of them and has been a "good-time Charlie" every time to opposition batters.

Jo-Jo White started it with a single and Mickey Cochrane started the rout by doubling him home.

Babe Ruth, perched in the press box behind the plate, made the catch of the game. The Bambino stood up and caught a foul off Freddie Lindstrom's bat in the fourth inning. The crowd gave him a big hand and he liked it.

If Al Schacht doesn't get pneumonia, it'll be a marvel of medical science. The baseball comedian engaged in a shadow boxing act before game time with Maxie Rosenbloom without a shirt on. As he lay on the cold ground (he knocked himself out) his second doused him with a pail of water.

The scalpers took it on the chin for the second straight time yesterday. The cold weather kept thousands away and the scalpers were begging customers to buy ducats for a dollar a throw. One settled on a cup of coffee and a hot dog.

HIGH SCHOOL SOCCER OPENS

Three Games Played As Teams Get Into Shape For League Competition

Prospects of some keen competition, when Interhigh School League soccer games get under way was indicated by practice games on the Fernwood grounds Monday, Wednesday and Thursday.

On Monday the Mount View High School eleven defeated the Victoria High eleven 2 to 1 in a hard-fought game. Mount View were the aggressors but met with stubborn resistance from Jack Ferguson and Roy Bishop, the home team's fullbacks. A fine display of teamwork was given by both teams.

McDonald, Mount View's fleet centre forward scored the only goal registered in the first half. The tying goal was scored by Duillem half way through the second half when after a nice bit of teamwork, he sent a well-placed ball into the net.

Booth, who is one of the three new players on the Mount View team, scored the winning goal on a pass from McDonald, when he dribbled the ball past the opposing backs and shot.

Mount View nearly scored a third goal in the last few minutes of the game but Roy Bishop deflected a hard shot. In doing this he was forced to forfeit a corner from which Mount View failed to score.

V. G. Pritchard refereed the game. The teams follow:

Mount View—Moss; Frost and Dear; Alexander, Kennedy and Waring; Duncan, Oliver, McDonald, Pobbans and Booth.

Victoria High—Drummond; Bishop and Ferguson; Brown, Fletcher and Duillem; Munroe, MacMillan, O'Neil Barnes and Ord.

Coffee Worth 25 Cents Cup

Bleacher Fans at World Series Baseball Game To-day at Chicago Pay High For Steaming Java; Ten Cent Sandwiches Go For Half a Dollar

Chicago, Oct. 4.—The backbone of baseball fandom—the bleacher customers—stepped up with $1.10 each to purchase the 13,000 seats necessary to produce a capacity crowd of 50,000 to-day as the Detroit Tigers and Chicago Cubs renewed their battle for world series loot.

The backbone was a big, noisy, well-bundled one, so big and noisy that fifty police were detailed to watch over them from yesterday evening to 7 o'clock this morning. At midnight, more than 5,000, disaffected of freezing temperatures, were lined up to some extent.

The market at just before dawn was $5 bid and $10 asked. Ordinary dime sandwiches went at fifty cents and coffee was twenty-five cents a cup. Crates and boxes for sitting purposes brought peddlers as high as $2.

Santa Anita Has Big Plans Ahead

Los Angeles, Oct. 4.—Close to 100 nominations and, without a doubt, the richest purse in the history of racing.

That is the prospect for Southern Californians interested in the sport of kings with the approach of the Santa Anita meeting.

"Doc" Strub, major-domo of the track, said both the High's goals.

Smith scored the goal for the Aces. Marigold started the scoring early in the game when Smith, their right wing, booted the leather out of a scrimmage in the goal mouth into the net.

O'Neil scored the first goal for High when he baffled the goal-tender with a penalty kick. Duillem scored another goal, but it was not counted because he handled the ball.

O'Neil scored his second goal half way through the second half. V. G. Pritchard refereed.

The teams follow: Marigold—Aces—Moss; Frost and Dear; Alexander, Kennedy and Waring; Duncan, Oliver, McDonald, Pobbans and Booth.

Victoria High—Drummond; Bishop and Ferguson; Brown, Fletcher and Duillem; Munroe, MacMillan, O'Neil Barnes and Ord.

LOSE TO CAPITALS
Yesterday the Capitals beat the High eleven 8 to 0 in a one-sided game. Sage was top scorer, netting three goals. Barnes, Carlow and Cozier each scored one.

During the first three minutes of the game Sage opened the scoring with a hard-driven ball which had the goalkeeper fooled.

A few minutes later Barnes scored the second one for the Capitals. Sage scored his second goal late in the first half when Wilson headed it towards the goal mouth and Sage booted it in.

The fourth goal was scored early in the second half by Carlow, who shot a fast one to the corner.

Right after this Cozier scored the fifth goal after a pretty piece of dribbling.

Near the end of the second half Sage scored his third goal. H. Cumberbatch refereed the game.

The teams follow: Capitals—Hornaby; Brown and Williams; Holt, Barnes and Rowe; Sage, Roe, Wilson, Cozier and Carlow.

Victoria High—Stewart; Leason and Bishop; Lovell, Fletcher and Blakemore; Fuller, Duillem, Munroe, Blakemore and Cavett.

Between forty and fifty clergymen of Victoria this morning exchanged greetings with the Dean of Canterbury, who has been visiting the city. The dean was introduced by Canon A. E. de L. Nunn, after which he gave a short address to the ministers dealing with economic matters. He pointed out the interest of the clergy in this subject must of necessity arise out of religion. The dean left on this afternoon's boat for the mainland.

Next Friday was set as a preliminary date by Acting Magistrate Alexis Martin.

Pendray Brothers Set Lead to Victorians on Mount Douglas Project

Following an announcement at yesterday's Rotary Club luncheon by Carl Pendray that he and his brother, Herbert Pendray, were prepared to advance the sum of $250 towards the construction of a road over Mount Douglas, it is expected that other citizens will come forward in the same generous manner and help towards the opening up of one of the greatest beauty spots in the district.

The offer was made by Mr. Pendray after the Rotarians had heard the work of the Victoria and Saanich Parks and Beaches Committee outlined by Reeve William Crouch. George McGregor pledged his active support to the project in the matter of helping raise funds. The offer of the cash donation was enthusiastically stated in yesterday's Times to have come from him.

The scheme suggested by Carl Pendray is for a motor road over the top of Mount Douglas similar to that carried out by the committee on Mount Tolmie this year.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Bird and their fifteen-year-old daughter, Marjorie, were reported much improved at the Jubilee Hospital to-day, after sustaining serious injuries in last Sunday's fatal automobile crash at Hillside Avenue and Blackwood Street.

School Curriculum Revision Studied

First Test of Modernized School Methods Planned in Fall of 1936; Expert Committee at Work

The Department of Education expects to test out the first part of a revised curriculum in the schools of B.C. by next fall, Hon. G. M. Weir, the minister, said this morning.

In making this announcement, the minister outlined some of the objectives of a committee of experts which is now going over the teaching methods and policies.

The committee consists of D. L. MacLaurin, assistant superintendent of education, chairman; Major H. B. King, H. N. MacCordale, superintendent of schools in Vancouver; C. B. Wood of the U.B.C., and J. Roy Sanderson, principal of King Edward High School in Vancouver, assisted by sub-committees on the various subjects.

Attention is being paid first, said the minister, to the curriculum covering grades one to six, the elementary classes. Recommendations on changes in these grades are expected from the committee during the first part of next year. They can be put into practical operation by the start of the following school term.

CURRICULUM OBSOLETE
In the opinion of Dr. Weir, the present school curriculum does not adequately fit the child to take his place in the world. It is obsolete in many respects. In the changing attitude of the modern world it must be altered to meet new viewpoints and new conditions.

With these things in mind, the plan of the new curriculum will be to teach children to be more socially-minded, to be more co-operative in their thought and make them better equipped to enjoy the added leisure which is possible to six, the elementary grades. "The fundamental principle to be kept in mind," Dr. Weir explained, "is that the purpose of the curriculum is to effect a realization of the aims and objectives of education. With this end in view these aims will be formulated and criteria developed for evaluating the materials and activities which will constitute the curriculum."

"Much excellent work is exemplified in the present programme. Its architecture shows that, generally, sound ideas entered into its construction. Portions, however, are inconsistent with the philosophy of the general plan. The traditional matriculation examination appears to have influenced the programme-makers unduly. In the drawing up of a course of studies in some of the subjects the doctrine of formal discipline obviously led to the retention of subject matter unjustifiably upon other grounds."

Dr. Weir pointed out that complete revision of the curriculum is an involved task and will be a continuous process over a long period. As changes in the lower grades are tried out, the higher grades will be considered as well.

One of the big aims, he indicated, will be to adapt the educational programme so that in a child's early adolescence, when his gifts and aptitudes first begin to show themselves, he may start training for his place in life. The present system permits a two or three-year lag in primary education after adolescence appears, before the secondary education starts.

SENTENCED ON CHEQUE COUNT
Major A. A. Mercer Given Three-month Term for Falsely Obtaining Money

When he altered his plea of not guilty to guilty, Major A. A. Mercer was sentenced to three months' imprisonment by Magistrate Jay in the city police court this morning on a charge of obtaining $21.50 by false pretences from E. W. Francis, jeweller.

The money was obtained by the accused when he cashed a cheque on his account with the Westminster Trust Company, which had been garnished on March 16 last year.

G. L. Harrison, prosecutor, stated the accused had also paid a cheque for $10 on the same account, payable to George Strath Ltd.

The prosecution this morning was prepared with two witnesses from New Westminster to fight the accused's plea of not guilty, and when the plea was altered Mr. Harrison stated he would consult the court later about having the accused pay the costs of having the witnesses brought here. The sum of $57.63 was found on the accused when he was arrested.

Slight Pick-up In Construction

Construction in the city picked up again this week, as two projects left a total value of $67,700 listed on the building inspector's permit books. Other small jobs were also registered.

On Tuesday the Selkirk Lumber Co. took out a permit for $1,000 repair, addition and demolition work at 845 Gerbally Road, where a new addition is being built.

Later yesterday the Union Oil Company of Canada Limited filed a permit for a $5,700 construction at 1830 Fort Street. The building will replace one standing at that location now.

Fairer Contracting Company and Lums, Inc. are prospective contractors for the two projects.

Pat Howard Gets New Trial

Judge Declares Mistrial on 25,000 Cigarette Robbery Charge

Pat J. Howard's trial ended on its third day just before noon to-day with Judge Lampman declaring a mistrial and ordering a new trial.

Howard was charged with the robbery of $25,000 cigarettes from the wholesale warehouse of W. H. Malkin and Company last December 23. The cigarettes were found by the police in a brush cache near the Esquimalt Naval Barracks. Howard and two companions, F. G. McWayne and John Burns, were trapped by the police at the cache and taken when a shot was fired over their heads.

McWayne and Burns pleaded guilty when they came to trial at the first of the year and were sentenced to one and two years respectively. Howard pleaded not guilty, claiming he was not implicated in the robbery but had been brought in later.

To-day, F. C. Elliott, defence counsel, and Carey Martin, prosecutor, concluded their addresses to the court.

Then Judge Lampman took up the question which had arisen late yesterday when Mr. Martin had referred to the accused's failure to take the stand to testify. Mr. Elliott protested that his was improper comment and contrary to the Canada Evidence Act. The judge said what Mr. Martin had said in the first part of his address had not amounted to comment, but in the second part he had made such express reference to the matter "that I think there was a comment and it is quite plain there has been a mistrial."

When the judge ordered there should be a new trial, Mr. Elliott arose and said he proposed at the new trial to call McWayne and Burns to testify for the defence. He asked that sufficient notice be given to enable him to get these two men here. Howard's freedom on $1,500 bail was ordered continued.

Failed to Obey Signal; Warned

John Dean Before Court for Traffic Offence; Says He Was Ignorant of "New Fangled" Signals in Victoria

Because he decided after he was three quarters of the way across Johnson Street against the traffic signal that he would not embarrass himself by returning to where he started, John Dean, of Esquimalt, was charged in City Police Court this morning with failing to obey the signal.

He pleaded not guilty and was given a warning after Magistrate Jay had advised him to take home a copy of the by-law and study it. Mr. Dean told the magistrate he had already done so, since receiving his summons.

Constance G. L. Greenwood testified he whistled at Mr. Dean when he walked against the signal. The defendant completed the crossing, however, and the constable went to him to caution him with regard to the regulations.

After questioning Mr. Dean if he was aware he walked against the signal, the constable said Mr. Dean replied: "I did so at my own risk, didn't I?"

The constable testified he told Mr. Dean that was not the point and that he should have stopped when he heard the whistle.

"Well, I wasn't going to walk back and make a fool of myself," was Mr. Dean's answer as reported by the constable.

The constable testified he warned Mr. Dean he would summons him if he persisted, whereupon Mr. Dean said: "Go ahead, I'll come to court and pay the fine."

"I said nothing of the kind," Mr. Dean interjected at this point.

Mr. Dean admitted the constable's evidence up to the point where he had told him he would come to court and pay the fine.

"I have been away about eight or nine months and am practically a stranger here," Mr. Dean said, "I am not familiar with your new-fangled metropolitan signals. When I came to the crossing I looked around just as I would in London and saw a clear space for 200 feet on either side of me and crossed the street at my own risk."

LONDON CONDITIONS

In London a pedestrian could cross anywhere, he said, if there was no traffic. Mr. Dean continued, "The things are so absurd. What this man wants is a little common sense," he added.

The magistrate asked Mr. Dean if he had a copy of the by-law. Mr. Dean said he had and the magistrate advised him to study it. Mr. Dean said he had done so since receiving the summons.

"But why didn't he use discretion?" asked Mr. Dean, referring to the constable.

"He was using discretion and trying to save you from being knocked down," replied the court.

"I don't have been knocked down and I don't need him to save me. I can save myself," he said.

TAG TO-MORROW FOR SOLARIUM

The Victoria Women's Institute will appeal to the public to-morrow for funds for the purchase of much-needed blankets and clothing for the little patients at the Queen Alexandra Solarium. Every cent of the money collected will be used for the purchase of these goods, the institute assuming all the expenses of the tag day. It is hoped the public will respond with its customary generosity to this annual appeal.

What Modern Woman Wants Career Instead of Fireside? Says It Is Up To Husbands To Make Home Pleasant Place

LOTS OF modern women do not go domestic after marriage. The role of wife, mother and housekeeper does not satisfy them. They yearn for careers. They want to work outside of the home instead of in it. So we are confronted with the spectacle of hundreds of women, under no compulsion to earn money, who leave their children and houses to the care of servants while they devote their time and energy to running tea places, or setting up To Olds Furniture Shoppers, or selling insurance, real estate or whatnot.

This is a great disappointment to their husbands, who dreamed of being met, when they came home at night, by a smiling wife with the incense of savory cooking surrounding her like a halo, instead of having to wait dinner for a tired and bedraggled woman, all frazzled out with business worries and anxieties, to drag herself in to cook a most inefficient cook's conception of a meal.

These men consider that running a house and rearing a family is not only a full woman's size job, but that it is the job she contracted to do when she got married, and they want to know how to get wife back onto it and to doing the work that is really her life work.

Nothing could show more completely how the social order has changed than that husbands should now be asking how to keep their wives at home. Thirty years ago it was the wives who were demanding to know how to keep their husbands tied to their own firesides. And the answer then invariably was "Give your husband at home what he seeks abroad. Make your home as comfortable and cheerful as any club. Give him as good food as he would get at a restaurant. Be as entertaining and amusing to him as any strange woman.

Well, what was sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander. No better advice for keeping a wife at home can be given than that which was offered to wives for keeping their husbands at home: Give wife at home what she seeks abroad. For men and women stray away from their own hearthstones for the same reason. Because the fire has gone out on them and they are cold and dead and cheerless.

Suppose, then, Mr. Husband, if you want to keep your wife a home-body, you try making home more interesting for her. Housework is dull and monotonous labor. It is sweeping floors that are littered the next minute. It is starting another meal before the last one is fairly eaten. It is ordering the same old beef and potatoes and onions and spinach day after day. It is washing the baby's face and getting the children off to school, doing a thousand chores that only take up one job of one's brains, and doing it with no one to talk to but an infant who says "ga-ga" when spoken to.

And often after a dull and lonely day the wife spends a dull and lonely evening with a husband who sits up like a dummy behind his paper and only grunts when she tries to talk to him. Can you blame a woman who lives that sort of drab existence for wanting to chuck it and get a job downtown, where she will, at least, have movement and life around her and a chance to exchange a few words with an articulate human being?

Believe me, if husbands would try as hard to sell domesticity to their wives as they do to new automobile to a customer, there wouldn't be so many women trekking out of kitchens into offices. Just a little pleasant conversation and a few of the good stories that set other people's dinner tables in a roar would be a lot toward keeping wives from hankering for the outside world where they would have some companionship.

Give your wife at home what she would get abroad. One thing would be appreciation. If she did good work, her employer would commend her for it. If she was faithful and loyal and devoted to her firm; if she worked overtime; if she devised new ways of saving money, she would be patted on the back and told how invaluable she was. But husband takes all of her labor and penny-pinching for granted and never remarks on her achievements except to criticize them. So it is no wonder she wants to change homes.

And if your wife is young and pretty, away from home she gets flattery and lovemaking. She is made to feel that she is a woman and not a domestic utensil. Other men feed her on angel's food. Her husband stuffs dust and ashes in her mouth. So it is no wonder she wants to leave home to be a saleswoman in a confectionery. It is because husbands don't provide home-made bonbons for their wives that they nibble on forbidden sweets.

Finally, if husbands want to keep their wives at home, they must make the domestic job worth while. She must not be expected to work for her board and clothes and never have a dollar that can be spent as she pleases. She must have her pay envelope as well as the hired girl's. It isn't enough for a man to say that all he has is his wife's. He must give her her fair share of it if he wants to keep her from thinking of taking up stenography or going in for dress modeling.

So, gentlemen, if you want to keep your wives at home, make home attractive to them. Make marriage a grand career instead of a chore. DOROTHY DIX.

Uncle Wiggily's Silk Dresses

By HOWARD E. GARIS

Because Jingle and Jangle fell into the kettle of Nurse Jane's ketchup those little rabbits were spoiled their dresses. You may remember how I told you about Jingle and Jangle falling into the kettle and how Uncle Wiggily got them out with the big wooden spoon.

Jingle and Jangle were not in the ketchup very long, but it does not take long to ruin a dress with ketchup. The dresses of Jingle and Jangle were quite spoiled.

It is true that Nurse Jane and Mrs. Longears washed the dresses as best they could. But, try as they did, some of the tomato sauce stains remained in, and though the dresses when new were a beautiful blue, now they had big brownish red spots on them.

"Can't we have some new dresses, mother?" asked Jingle one day when she and her sister were wearing the ketchup ones, as they had come to be called.

"New dresses? No, indeed!" said the rabbit ladies. "You are in luck. I am leasing over the kettle of ketchup to snuff, so you must wear your old, stained dresses. It will teach you to be more careful. I will teach you to be more careful."

"That's right!" said Nurse Jane. "The muskrat lady housekeeper didn't like rabbits, even if they were nice. To fall into her ketchup."

So Jingle and Jangle had to wear their old, stained dresses while their sisters and brothers wore nice, clean new ones. Oh, just a moment please, I made a mistake. Brothers don't wear dresses, do they? But, anyhow, Jingle and Jangle had to wear their old, ketchup dresses and they felt sad. Often when they went out hopping with their father they would say to him:

"Daddy, do you mind going with us when we have on the ketchup dresses?"

"Oh, I don't in the least mind," Uncle Wiggily would answer. "I love you both, no matter what dresses you have on. I don't mind."

But Jingle and Jangle minded very much. They were ashamed of their old, stained ketchup dresses, but they knew it was their own fault.

"I'm never going to fall into another kettle of ketchup," said Jingle.

"Neither am I," promised her sister.

One day Uncle Wiggily heard the twins talking really about their ketchup dresses. Feeling sorry for them, he said to himself, "I will get them some new dresses. They won't want me to buy new dresses, for they know how I can get them new dresses for nothing. I'll have Mrs. Spin Spider weave them some new web dresses of fine gossamer green."

CALLS ON MRS. SPIDER

Hopping to the web house of Mrs. Spin Spider, Uncle Wiggily asked her to make Jingle and Jangle some new dresses.

"Right gladly will I do that, Uncle Wiggily," said Mrs. Spin Spider. "My web dresses would be too fine for little rabbit girls to wear. They'd wear 'em out in no time and soon wear-sul. But if you'll let me weave them strong silk from the ears of corn 'til we're them strong silk dresses, which will wear a long time."

"The very thing!" cried Uncle Wiggily. From some late ears of corn the rabbit gentleman gathered many strands of green and brown silk. From this silk Mrs. Spin Spider wove two of the cutest dresses you ever saw. They were lovely and when Uncle Wiggily gave them to Jingle and

SUIT FOR $50,000 DAMAGES FAILS

Canadian Press

Montreal, Oct. 4.—Chief Justice R. E. Greenfield, in Superior Court here yesterday, dismissed a suit of Eileen Mackay, sixteen-year-old nursemaid, against McGill University for $50,000 damages for injuries allegedly received when struck by a cricket ball on the McGill campus in July, 1928.

The case was dismissed after a jury had failed to find any ground for compensating the girl. A verdict of "no claim" was returned after less than an hour's deliberation.
